

Beach cleanup started after menhaden spill

By JAKE JACOB
A menhaden fish spill in the Bay St. Louis was being hurriedly cleaned up Wednesday after part of the estimated 50,000 fish began to wash ashore along a one mile stretch of beach west of the American Legion pier.

A spotter pilot for Sea Coast Products of Moss Point first radioed reports of the fish spill to industry officials Monday while searching for schools of fish.

Although designated by the pilot as a "slight" spill, industry officials immediately notified the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission and instituted clean-up and investigatory measures.

Vernon Niven, manager, Sea Coast Products, of Moss Point, one of three Mississippi menhaden companies, said he had personally undertaken inspection flights over the spill on Tuesday and again early Wednesday to determine its extent and effect on the Hancock County shoreline.

Further, Niven contacted Beat Four Supervisor, Sam Perniciaro, asking him to institute necessary clean up measures, and bill him for payment.

Perniciaro verified Niven's statement Wednesday saying he had already moved into action and the beach, involved was being cleared. He said the fish washed ashore for about a mile to the west along the sand beach from the Legion pier.

FISHERY PROBLEM—visitors to the Hancock County beaches between Bay St. Louis and Waveland this week were faced with the fishy problem of a menhaden spill from pogy boats fishing in the Mississippi Sound. Approximately 50,000 of the little fish were reported either floating on the surface of the water or littering the beach area along a one mile stretch of beach. Cleanup operations were being undertaken by Beat Four Supervisor Sam Perniciaro.

"We had begun to clean up the fish following the first complaints received, even before we had determined cause or responsibility," Perniciaro said.

Niven said it had been determined a "set" had been made in the general area by a menhaden (pogy) boat on Monday afternoon, but it still was to be determined which of the three companies' vessel was involved.

Other than Sea Coast Products, the companies having boats operating in the industry here are Standard Products, and Zapata-Hayne, both of Moss Point.

Niven said he did not think many more fish would wash ashore along the county's sand beach as wind and tide action seemed to be carrying them away.

"The volume of fish left on the surface is about one third of the original number," Niven said.

"I flew over the affected area again early this morning and the majority of fish not washed ashore seem either to have already sunk or are moving away from the beach due to wind and tide action," Niven said Wednesday.

Niven said the industry's attitude towards such spills was to take immediate action on anything that even looked like a spill.

"When the situation involves the community we are together. When it comes to fishing we are competitive," he said.

Niven, formerly of Bay St. Louis, said it is entirely possible the boat captain did not know of the spill.

"When the net is pulled the school of fish is drawn tightly together for pumping into the catch boat.

"If the net has snagged on something, like debris, or if a shark has conducted an underwater attack, in either case resulting in a torn net, the fish will spill out.

"Menhaden fish normally swim in close schools, but the net action of drawing them even closer together, cuts off much of their oxygen and they are either dead or "very groggy" prior to being moved onboard.

"Thus the spilled (or escaped) fish could stay down until after the catch boat has left the area and its crew be entirely unaware of the incident.

"The catch boat moves away from the zone of set once it is completed as the crew know those menhaden will not school again for some time," Niven said.

Now it's got a fish smell too

"We have already hauled away a truck load of dead fish and have dumped it right on top of last month's Columbian marijuana ashes," Supervisor Sam Perniciaro of Beat 4 said Wednesday.

Perniciaro was referring to some 15 tons of marijuana confiscated and burned by federal agents after it was off-loaded from a fishing vessel at Port Bienville and moved to a site off Highway 43, on Catahoula Creek, Hancock County, by reefer truck.

Rumors circulating in the county state that some incompletely burned product has been recovered and is being sold to "consumers."

Marijuana said to "smell of diesel" and having a "smoke burned" appearance has been discovered in possession of persons arrested this week by Pass Christian police.

The marijuana, the apprehended claimed, was bought in a Hancock County bar.

Bells ring liberty in all the land

Bells throughout the nation will ring out beginning at 1 p.m. on July 4th. Bells will toll for two minutes marking the two hundredth anniversary of the "these free and united states."

In a nationwide hookup, television networks and radio stations across the states are expected to pick up the sound of the Liberty Bell at Philadelphia, Pa. which is also to be struck for the occasion.

The Hancock County Bay-Waveland Bicentennial Commission is urging that all bells belonging to schools, churches, corporations or private citizens be rung together in this national observance.

A daily display of the American flag in accordance with rules for flag etiquette is also requested as part of the celebration.

Bay St. Louis Mayor Warren Carver said he was also hopeful all citizens would exercise their right to freedom of worship by attending the church of their choice Sunday, July 4.

School district budget cut, coordinator slot abolished

By CAROLE LANGE

In an effort to ease the financial strain of the Hancock County school district, the board of education voted unanimously during a recessed meeting Monday to cut approximately $48,000 from the 1976-77 budget.

The cutbacks involved the elimination of one janitorial position at Hancock North Central High School, and a decrease in working months of some of the secretaries, janitors, and maintenance men at all three schools in the district.

A move apparently decided behind closed doors just prior to the meeting, concerned the voluntary transfer of Harlin Hill, federal coordinator and assistant superintendent of education, to the principalship at Hancock North Central Elementary School. Board President Monvel Cuevas said Hill would make the transfer at a lateral salary.

According to Cuevas, the move would allow the "necessary hiring" of an assistant principal at the high school and two teachers.

Hill said the position of federal coordinator would be abolished and added "Someone's got to bend somewhere."

Following the approval of budget cutbacks, the board proceeded to hire non-certified personnel within the district. Some discussion was lent to the hiring of a husband and wife bus driving team for Charles B. Murphy Elementary School. Apparently, several board members have received complaints from residents of the area claiming it is an unfair practice to hire two persons from the same family.

James Baldree, CBM principal, said bus drivers were "one of the hardest positions to fill" because of lack of applicants. He said he had posted a bulletin that applications would be taken, but that as yet he had not received any "nor do I expect to," he added.

Paul Bacon with the State Auditor's Office addressed the board concerning the district's financial situation.

He said "maintenance of a good cash control" is the secret to operating "the biggest payroll in Hancock County."

Claiming that the state legislature "has put a burden on school districts with last year's teacher salary increase and additional fixed increases, and the updating of teacher certification," he said the board can expect salary increases and maintenance costs "to cause problems from now on out."

Bacon acknowledged that financial problems exist in school districts throughout the state and added "The state of the whole thing is that you have a limited amount of revenue and expenditures are not limited."

His opinion that the state's 16th section law "needs more teeth in it" was met with approval by the board which briefly discussed the possibility of putting the land on a bidding basis to get the highest possible value.

Lott Appreciation Day due July 15

Hildon Shaw, chairman of the Hancock County Republican executive committee, announce a "Trent Lott Appreciation Day" will be held in Hancock County on July 15.

Representative Trent Lott, member of Congress from the 5th Mississippi Congressional District, is seeking reelection in November to his third term in the U.S. Congress.

Supporters and friends of Representatives Lott are invited to meet with him for an informal chat at the office of James Rester, Kiln, at 2 p.m. Thursday, July 15, or at the "Trent Lott Appreciation Dinner" to be held at 7 p.m. at the Diamondhead Country Club.

Tickets for the dinner, at $15 per person, are available from any member of the executive committee, or from Chairman Hildon Shaw, 255-7212, or Secretary Evelyn McPhail, 467-4331.

Housing strike ends as tenants pay rent

by JAKE JACOB

The tenant rent strike that has plagued Bay St. Louis Housing Authority officials since last April has terminated.

Willie Bradley, authority board president, said this week that he is pleased the matter had been amicably concluded and that no evictions have resulted from the more than two months of dispute.

Bradley said he hoped full attention could now be given to a continued improvement of relations between the tenants and the authority in preference to dwelling on who was right and who was wrong.

"We are encouraging the formation of a tenant organization and have asked for people from the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the National Tenants' Organization to assist," Bradley said.

He said he hoped such a group will provide a better communications method between the tenants and the authority and prevent such a series of misunderstandings from again arising.

The issue came to a head last week when Justice Court Judge Joe Dobson ordered five tenants to pay their rent or vacate the authority's housing units.

Tenants at that time claimed they had paid their rents into an escrow account in accordance with HUD instructions and directions concerning grievances, an action disclaimed by Dodson upon hearing the account was not recognized by the authority.

As upon previous occasions, Bradley indicated the possible lack of communications between his group and the tenants was the probable cause of the unrest.

"Most of the areas of dispute have been resolved," Bradley said, adding "those items that constitute legitimate complaints have been corrected. We cannot do much about those complaints that have originated as the result of policies handed down by HUD."

Bradley cited such areas as ground's maintenance costs, building painting frequency, and the like as authority responsibilities.

"Some of the tenants complained about the $1.25 a month prorated for grass cutting," Bradley said.

"We have talked this matter over with HUD who tells us that some new funds to be applied to this item have become available, so these charges have been dropped," Bradley said.

Other areas of authority and tenant negotiation cited by Bradley include, exterior painting frequency; and procedures for completion of work orders for project maintenance personnel.

The proposed tenant association could also open the door for establishment and improvement of social and recreational programs within the projects, Bradley indicated.

"Above all," Bradley said, "we know it is essential to have every tenant understand all the terms of their lease before they sign. This includes the clauses concerning the correct way to go about filing grievances, as we are governed by the terms of these leases as well as the tenants."

"We in the authority are here to help the tenants and it is our hope that if nothing else comes of this period of unrest we can at least manage to convey this point," Bradley said.

Waveland library sets dedication

Dedication ceremonies will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday for the Waveland Library and Civic Center.

Officiating will be the mayor and aldermen of the city of Waveland and the Board of Trustees of the Hancock County Library System.

An open house will follow the dedication.

The library will begin operating under new hours next week from 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday, and from 9-12 a.m. Saturday.

Hitchhiker falls from speeding car

A 28-year-old New York man was in Hancock General Hospital Wednesday recovering from injuries he received Tuesday night when he fell out of a car traveling approximately 60 m.p.h.

Lloyd Steger said he was hitchhiking on U.S. Highway 90 near State Highway 607 when he was given a ride by two men and a woman in a dark blue or black Chevrolet.

At first, a report was released that Steger had been thrown from the car, however, from his hospital bed Steger said "I fell out. It was just an accident."

A back pack belonging to the hitchhiker was found further down the highway, leading authorities to believe that the car's occupants panicked and threw it out of the vehicle.

Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn said Steger was found lying on the highway by an unidentified Bay St. Louis resident who took him to Our Shopping Center where he was picked up by Waveland police.

The dredging had been previously approved for the Corps by Congress but was delayed due to a pull back of government funding.

Advice received by the chamber, Mrs. Lamb said, indicates the funding has again become available putting the Bayou project back in contention.

Dredging spoils are now apparently earmarked for development of Buccaneer State Park's beach, an area adjacent to the treacherous underwater trap.

Carter indicated a public lack of concern was responsible for some of the previous problems.

"We have had signs here before but people don't heed them," the CD chief said.

The Hancock County supervisors heard also from their coroner Carl Banderet concerning the necessity of constructing a morgue.

Banderet said such a facility could have been utilized on at least eight occasions since last January. In one recent case, he claimed, a drowning victim had been held for five or more hours wrapped only in a rubber sheet before being claimed by a funeral director hired by the victim's family.

"We never know when we will need this morgue," Banderet said.

Supervisors called for detailed specifications following a submission by Banderet showing a suitable 4-door facility could be provided for $7,483.

Further, the coroner said, the Edmund Fahey Funeral Home was prepared to lease space to the county adjacent to their preparation room requiring but a minimum of modification. Such modification to the present garage space would involve construction of two walls, Banderet said. The installation of a separate electrical circuit was discussed but not determined.

"This cost is estimated at $1,090 for the walls," the coroner reported, for a total of $8,573, for the manufacturers factory in Minnesota.

Beat four supervisor Sam Perniciaro agreed a facility was required regardless of where it was located, adding he had heard the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland were also agreeable and called on Banderet to determine what cost percentage would be borne by the municipalities.

Anticipating approval of a requested transfer of half a mill from construction to operating funds, Mrs. Francis McDonald, chairman of the City-County Public Library trustees, tabled a proposed operating budget for 1976-77 of some $78,500. The county's one and a half mill levy would realize $54,500.

Balance of intended income is to come from a one mill levy in both Bay St. Louis and Waveland, to provide $13,300 and $4,000 respectively, $8,000 from revenue sharing funds, and $700 from fines.

Anticipated expenses showed salaries and social security payments amounting to some $44,882.66; books, subscriptions, supplies, and non-print material, such as record, film strips, micro film, etc. $14,200. Janitorial, pest control, equipment maintenance contracts, equipment repair, amount to a further $1,550, while postage, travel, and association dues top out at $453.

The balance of the $78,473.65 in expenditures is taken with: $1,356, insurance; $2,592, bookmobile; $12,200, utilities.

It's a great time to cook outdoors

By NORINE BARNES
Outdoor cooking is, to a very large extent, a learn-as-you-go process. What's good and easy for one may not be good and easy for you. However, mixing a little knowledge and practical application can quickly turn you into the most appreciated chef in the area. Selecting the right meat and complimentary vegetables is only part of the fun of outdoor cooking. Any meat that can be broiled, pan-fried, or roasted in the oven can be barbecued successfully over the grill. Spices and herbs used on meats will not only add "mouth-watering" flavor to various meat but also add juicy goodness down to the last bite. Carrots, onions, corn-on-thecob, cherry tomatoes, and green peppers are ideal vegetable selections to go with just about any meat. Frozen peas, succotash, and even asparagus cook nicely when removed from the package and placed (still in the frozen state) on heavy foil. Sprinkle with salt and dot with butter. Wrap loosely. Cook approximately 10 to 15 minutes on a hot grill and turn frequently.

Fires are important. Start your charcoal fire about 30 minutes before you plan to cook. To make wonderful smelling charcoal fires, toss in a herb - like bay, thyme, fennel, dill or marjoram - toward the end of cooking time. Just watch how this draws the family's attention to the cooking area.

Meat won't stick to grids of a hot grill if you brush them first with a little cooking oil. Or, pour a small amount of oil on a paper towel and wipe the grid.

conceivably of the chicken will hold most of the juices. Does your family and budget enjoy grilled hamburgers and hotdogs? Cold buns are sometimes a nuisance when the meat is served piping-hot. Make use of that clean coffee can and stack buns inside can. Place the can on the side of the grill for 10 minutes or until buns are hot. Then add your meat for that delicious treat.

Man has been cooking out since the beginning of time. Outdoor cooking, however, is no longer a special event reserved for weekends or holidays; it's a regular habit with many American families.

Tourism heads for new high along coast

The tourist industry in Mississippi can look for a banner year for the remainder of 1976, according to "Mississippi's Travel Industry," a quarterly report issued by the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Compared with the first three months of 1976, hotel and motel sales increased by 17 percent and restaurant sales by 18 percent during the first quarter of this year. Hotel and motel sales totaled over $22 million, while restaurant sales amounted to $87 million. Tourist resorts and attractions also showed significant increases in the number of visitors.

Webre defends Bayou Caddy operation

By JAKE JACOB
Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge Monday reiterated to the rest of the board of supervisors and Port Director, Wilson Webre, that the county's Bayou Caddy facilities are inadequate for fishermen.

Further, he said, he had received a number of complaints concerning site operations from local fishermen claiming they had been refused diesel and ice unless they sold their catch to the lessees John Ladner and Terry Ladner of Bay St. Louis.

Webre countered that the people who complained the most were members of the Fishermen's Association, an organization the Port and Harbor Commission he said had approached to operate the facility in the first case.

They declined the commission and put it up for bids. Webre said, "We got two bids and we gave it to the best," Webre added.

Webre said he knew the facility was inadequate and that the building needed to be restored.

"We are moving on some of the problems at Bayou Caddy but I wish people with complaints would come before the commission instead of this board," Webre said.

Courge said he did not believe one person should hold a monopoly at the bayou and that he was averaging five complaints a week - all about the same thing.

Webre asked board president Alton Keller if the supervisors would consider meeting with his commission to discuss the Bayou Caddy situation.

Keller responded that there were more items than that they wished to discuss in joint session and indicated a desire for such a gathering on July 8, the port group's next meeting.

The Bayou Caddy complaints arose following an exchange between Webre and Mary Caillier, president of the Beat One Civic Association and Clermont Harbor Civic Association, and Mrs. Vincent Ortiz.

In the former case, the civic association president asked Webre why he did not publish his commission's claim docket when a resolution on their books called for such action. Webre responded that the concerned action had been taken by a former board in June of 1973, but discontinued as a cost saving measure since there was no legal necessity to publish the docket.

"Our books are wide open. The firm of Moore and Powell conduct an annual audit on all our accounts and we get a monthly print-out of all line items," Webre said.

"If anything the commission is too frugal. There is nothing wrong with our books," he added.

Webre said there was only one person pressing for such publication out of a county of 21,000 people, whereupon Mrs. Caillier asked, "And that is me?"

"Yes," Webre responded adding that he didn't think there was any justification for the request.

County Attorney Sam Favre verified that no requirement for such publication existed under statute.

Asked if he would supply a docket if she attended the port office, Webre replied he would not if he was involved in intricate contract negotiations. The port director's dispute with Mrs. Ortiz arose after he introduced an outline of impending security measures at Port Bienville.

Webre said he had asked Fromherz Engineers to prepare specifications for a 64 by 24 foot, permanent type building to be constructed utilizing some $15,000 presently in the building fund. The structure would be utilized half for security personnel and half for the storage of equipment, such as trucks, tractor, and fuels, owned by the commission, Webre said.

The director indicated the main access gate would be manned, the perimeter fence completed and access to the industrial park limited to tenants and employees. He said the imposition of increased security had frequently been discussed by the commission and the recent incident concerning the off-loading and movement of some 15 tons of marijuana through the facility had clearly indicated the immediate need.

Mrs. Ortiz, who said her husband's livelihood was trapping then protested saying to deny them access to the industrial area meant they would become dependent on the county.

"We keep ourselves off welfare by trapping," she told supervisors.

"To deny us the use of this road would seriously affect our livelihood. Our sole income comes out the swamp," she added.

Webre said he had not realized Mrs. Ortiz had or would have a problem through the imposition of tight security at Port Bienville and again asked that such complaints be directed to his commission.

R&D gets grant

The Mississippi Research and Development Administration Center in Jackson has been awarded a $75,000 grant, Congressman Trent Lott announced this week.

Lott said the grant is part of the Economic Development Administration's program for job and business assistance and will be utilized by the center to help defray the cost of its program of technical assistance to business and industry throughout the state.

To provide equal matching funds, the center will apply the grant to areas of management, marketing and inventory control, financial planning and organizational analysis, and industrial relations assistance.

Borg-Warner option at Bienville extended

By JAKE JACOB
Apart from the immediate benefits to our county the industries with whom the P&H Commission are now negotiating represent a potential job market for area youth, Wilson Webre, Port & Harbor director, told county supervisors Monday.

The statement came following Webre's request for approval of a port resolution extending the Borg-Warner Chemical Corporation lease until Oct. 31.

Originally negotiated more than two years ago, the purchase option on some 200 acres at Port Bienville Industrial Park has been extended several times.

Webre told supervisors that Borg-Warner representatives had recently contacted him and indicated a firm decision on construction of the $70 million plant will probably be made at the company's annual meeting in September.

Cause for the delay, the port director indicated, was DuPont's hold on its original building schedule for its contemplated multi-million dollar pigments plant in Delisle.

"I believe the market question which confronted DuPont also confronted Borg-Warner and made them hesitate," Webre said Monday.

Borg-Warner which is a major manufacturer of thermo-plastics, has plans to produce acrylonitrile, butadiene, and styrene at the Port Bienville facility, Webre said. The products are used in the manufacture of telephones, automobiles, furniture and sports equipment.

Webre told the supervisors that when fully operational the plant will employ between 350 and 400 people.

He said the lease is secured against a $100,000 deposit held in escrow by the commission.

The option action was taken by Borg-Warner following a manning survey executed by their personnel management people, the port director said.

He said the group was satisfied they could obtain their employee requirements within a 35-mile radius of the plant.

"The 'hidden manpower pool' is best illustrated when it is realized that more than 1,200 people commute from this same area to jobs in other locations," Webre indicated.

Supervisors unanimously approved the Borg-Warner option extension.

Of the future Webre said his commission was negotiating with four, viable prospects, two of which he expected to "gel" in the near future.

Switching to airport industrial park progress, Webre said the Walle Printing Company was again moving ahead with plans to locate at Stennis International.

They now envisage a $1.2 million plant which will probably be a concrete building, Webre allowed.

He said negotiations were underway between Walle, the commission, and the Vo-Tech Center to determine the feasibility of permitting a tie-in to the school's sewage system until a treatment facility could be constructed at the industrial location.

Walle, he reminded the supervisors, was one of the largest label printing companies in the U.S. and it expects to hire between 40-50 female employees when in production here.

Youth curfew established to fight vandalism, burglary

Bay St. Louis Police Chief Billy Carbonette announced Wednesday that police stake outs are being set up throughout the city and the 11 p.m. curfew for youths 18-years-old and under will be strictly enforced in an effort to halt the increase in vandalism and burglaries.

He said several youths believed to be involved in recent burglaries will be picked up and questioned this week. In addition, the chief said an arrest "will be made shortly" in connection with the double burglary of a residence in Paradise Point.

For the period June 23-28, Chief Carbonette said three cases of auto vandalism were reported. In all cases, he said the cars were parked on the street in front of the victim's homes and that vandals let the air out of the tires, and broke the radio antennas and windshield wipers.

Six thefts were reported, ranging from a tackle box to a diamond ring.

Complainants and items stolen included John Bufkin, Royce 23 channel CB radio; William Dubuisson, camera and light meter; Mrs. Beverly Poolson, diamond ring; Richard Cuevas, tackle box and fishing equipment; and Ms. Margie Fayard, $10 worth of gasoline from the Magic Mart self-service pump on Washington St. and U.S. Highway 90.

Corps of Engineers announce Phase II of water quality plan

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers this week confirmed that implementation of the second phase of a three-phase program to protect the quality of the waters of the United States against harmful discharges of dredged or fill materials will proceed as scheduled on July 1, 1976.

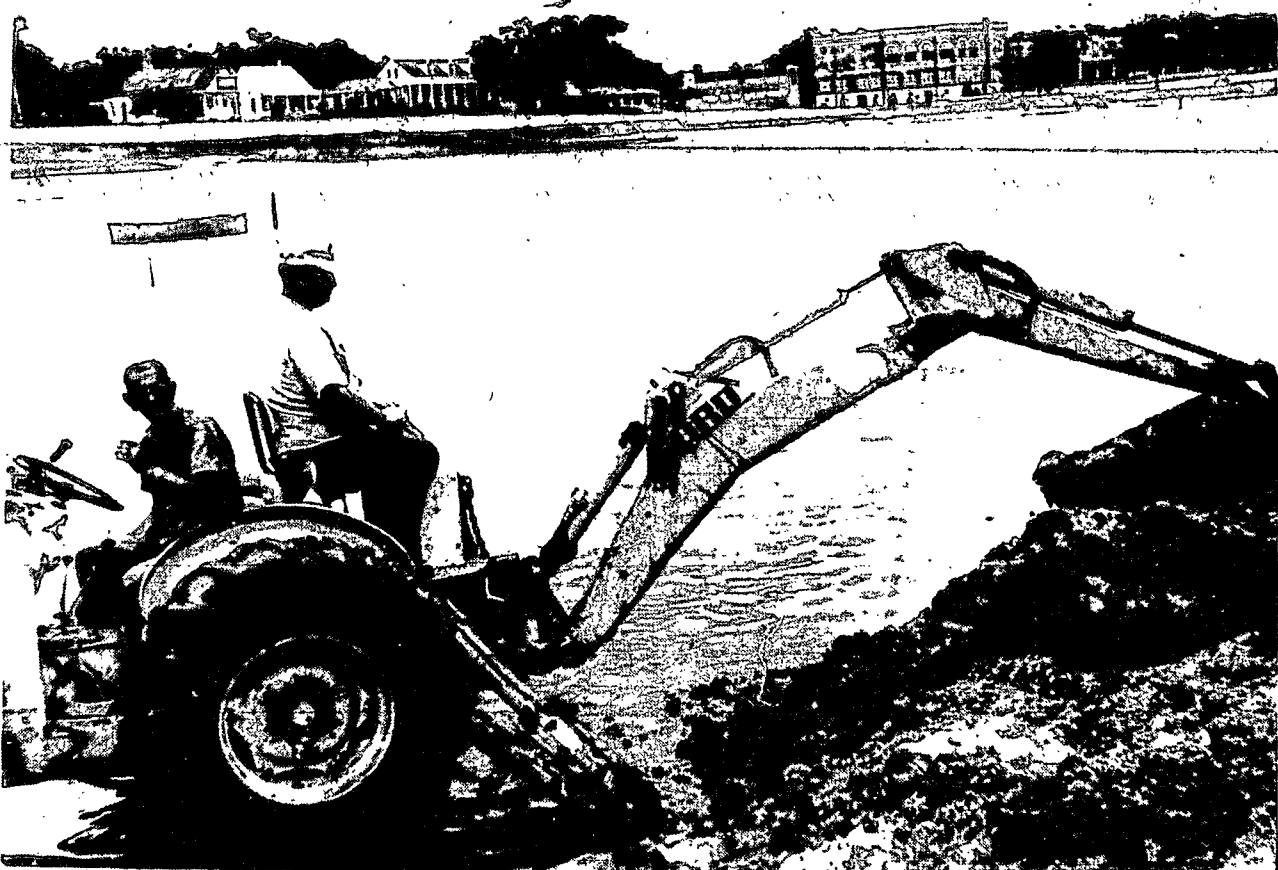

Phase II extends the jurisdiction of the Army Engineers to regulate disposal of dredged or fill materials to lakes with more than five surface acres, primary tributaries of inland navigable waters of the United States, and nearby wetlands.

In the announcement, the Corps of Engineers emphasized that it will continue to use "moderation and reasonable approach" in the administration and enforcement of the program. General permits which would provide blanket authorization for comparable activities with no significant adverse environmental impact in designated areas will be developed for issue as much as possible to make the program more manageable and practical by reducing the number of permits required.

Bogue Chitto River float trail developed

Whatever your pleasure, fast-moving action or floating peacefully downstream, the Bogue Chitto River is south-west Mississippi offers a wide choice of adventure. From the slow moving, winding, and canopy-covered, to the straight, wide, and swift, you'll find it all along the Bogue Chitto River Float Trail.

The Bogue Chitto River Float Trail is being developed by the Pearl River Basin Development District under its Pearl River Boatway Program, according to district president George Wynne. Two water parks have been completed on the Bogue Chitto River, another is under construction and land has been purchased for a fourth park. These parks offer boat launching ramps for public access to the water, excellent camping facilities for overnight outings, or picnicking facilities for those bringing along their lunch, Wynne said.

For those who don't own a canoe, the Pearl River Basin Development District has purchased 15 white water canoes which are located at Bogue Chitto Water Park off state Highway 84 between McComb and Tylertown.

These canoes, along with life jackets and paddles, are available for rental including put-in and take-out by park personnel.

An informative brochure on the Bogue Chitto River Float Trail containing a detailed map of the river, location of parks and their facilities, and canoe rental rates can be obtained from the Pearl River Basin Development District, P.O. Box 532, Jackson, Miss 39216 or by calling (601) 354-6301.

July electric bills to reflect increase

Mississippi Power Company Vice President John P. Stephens said Tuesday the utility company's fuel cost adjustment factor for July will be up 43 cents per 1,000 kilowatt hours from June.

Stephens said July's fuel cost adjustment factor for July will be 9.71 mills per kilowatt-hour or approximately $9.37 per 1,000 kilowatt-hours.

Stephens said the slight increase is due to the anticipated increasing use of oil-fired generating units to meet July's air-conditioning loads on the system.

"Our service area in southeast Mississippi is beginning to experience the hot, humid weather of summer. Consequently, as our customers attempt to offset the discomfort of this type weather, their electric bills will increase due to the energy used by the air conditioner," Stephens explained.

Blessey addresses VFW convention

Gerald Blessey, Democratic nominee for Congress, speaking Saturday to the State Convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, called for "a renewed effort to insure that America's military strength will be unsurpassed in the years ahead."

"Soviet naval strength is rapidly overtaking America's naval weaponry. We must move immediately to upgrade our fleet, or we will find ourselves second best in this crucial area," Blessey said.

Blessey is a veteran of the Vietnam War and was awarded the Bronze Star and two citations for his service while commanding an Army Combat Intelligence unit.

Stephens said two revisions to the rules governing electric service were also being mailed to all company customers with their July billing. The changes concern delinquent payment of bills and residential service connections.

"Beginning with the August billing month, a charge of one percent per month of any amount billed in arrears, plus applicable state sales tax, will be added to customer's bills," Stephens said. Stephens noted the charge had become necessary due to the increasing number of bills that are behind in payment.

"With the addition of this charge, we are attempting to relieve our customers who pay promptly from having to share the added costs brought about by those who pay late," he said.

Stephens said Miss. Power was also instituting a $5 connection charge, plus applicable sales tax to future applicants for residential service. This charge will be refunded if service is rendered to the same customer at the same location for 12 consecutive months, he said.

Opinion/Jake Jacob

We suggest voters call governor collect as hot line canned

It would be ridiculous to suggest we in any way wrote in favor of the election of Governor Cliff Finch prior to the general election. Nor can we point to any highly favorable comment on his actions since inauguration.

We do however admit to an editorial indicating certain misgivings and expressions of doubt concerning the possibility of seeing any new programs or vigorous state promotion in anything but already established areas.

By the same token we have refrained until now albeit at times against our better judgement, in commenting on gubernatorial activities to date, lest we be accused of "sour grapes."

In November, 1974, Governor Bill Waller established a "toll free hot line" open to all the people, regardless of individual circumstance, to permit rapid communication with his office and the other representatives of state government.

Within a few months of its creation the "hot line" proved worthy of its keep and maintained an average of 987 calls a month for the balance of Gov. Waller's administration.

Regardless of the base politics involved, the service provided a direct contact point to Jackson for the "person in the street" and was responsible for a novel, direct interchange between citizen and state.

Governor Cliff Finch, we understand claiming expense as the principal cause, ordered the line to cease operation as from 2 p.m., yesterday. Another, separate reason, again we hear, was the decline in calls, to an average of 750 per month.

We are not surprised over the decline.

Under Gov. Waller an army of area volunteers joined forces with Jackson in publicizing the line's value. The administration of Gov. Finch, conversely, has seen fit not to promulgate information concerning the line's availability, nor to issue invitation to the electorate suggesting employment of its service.

We hope people in time of crisis, needing assistance with nowhere to turn, will call the governor collect, and solicit his aid.

We trust those voters desperate for information on services for the elderly, welfare, public assistance, employment, vocational training, agriculture, taxes, housing, law enforcement, legal aid, immigration, consumer and economic affairs, camp, parks, and historic points of interest, will call the governor collect, and ask his advice.

We urge Mississippian's having urgent questions on social security, veterans affairs, highways, taxes, utilities, and correctional and institutional services, environmental affairs, pollution, adoption, family substitute services, state legislation and government, county and municipal affairs, family planning, nursing services, rehabilitation, medical and hospital services, to call the governor, collect for prompt friendly direction.

The records of the hot line have been boxed and sealed in the catacombs of "central files" there to lie until the end of time, unless needed for audit.

The people who computed the records were, as of June 30, not offered other positions inside the administration, but instead banished along with their years of service.

The governor's home telephone number, according to South Central Bell's information desk yesterday, is 354-7650.

While you are calling, collect, along with your plea for aid, perhaps you may want to inquire into the possible changing condition of the Danish products in the lunch box.

Washington Report

By: Rep. Trent Lott

As we approach our nation's 200th birthday it is appropriate that we pause to think about what it means to be an American.

One young lady in Mississippi's Fifth Congressional District, Brenda Kay Tanner of Moss Point, did just that recently and what she has to say is both interesting and inspiring. She penned her thoughts for my Bicentennial Essay Contest, won first prize, and is now in Washington observing and participating in the festivities of this historic week.

I am proud to present to you her winning essay.

I was first imprisoned in England by the strict, dictatorial rule of the king. Not one person dared to speak my name. Then, I was born. An individual, suppressed in life with deep burdens, brought me into this world. I began as a dream and a vision full of faith and hope. Gradually, men began to utter my name to others, even though they still spoke in a very cautious, hushed tone. From this simple existence as an embryo of an image, I grew into the soul of the people. I dwelt in their hearts, and I began to breathe from their lungs.

By Sept. 16, 1620, I had aroused and stimulated the interest of 102 courageous human beings. On that day, I set sail from Plymouth, England in a wooden vessel, the Mayflower. Valiantly, I crossed the dark, mysterious Atlantic Ocean, and on Dec. 26, 1620, I dropped anchor at what is now Plymouth, Massachusetts.

Who am I, you ask? I am Liberty!

In 1620, I helped settlers as they groped through the darkness of an unutilized and unknown world in order to gain a way of life that possessed a meaning.

On July 4, 1776, I watched as the Declaration of Independence was adopted, and like the signers of this document, I too placed my seal with a promise to stand by these people. This I did! Because of me, Liberty, men were able to revolt against the British in my defense. Many times a part of me died as a man dropped into eternal slumber so that I might be preserved. Yet, enough of me still lived that I might continue to fight on. When Patrick Henry declared, "Give me liberty or give me death," I stood beside him, strongly and proudly. And because I was there he had the choice of either liberty or death!

In 1783, a long-sought victory was at last won. I signed my name to the treaty ending a hard battle.

My life, though now established, still had to be protected for there were those who hated me and there were those who would gladly give up everything to see me perish.

My life began to thrive. I was there as the movement Westward began, and I was among the first to see the great Mississippi River. When slaves reached out to me, I lent a helping hand, and I became born anew with the invention of machines. When the Gold Rush cried out in 1849, I moved to the land of wealth for all. When women's voting rights and the Eighteenth Amendment were proposed, I was there to voice an opinion. Soon I will attend one of the greatest celebrations in human history. That celebration will honor the bicentennial or 200 years of independence for the United States of America. After that I will still be present for whatever the future has in store.

You may wonder how I have managed to survive so many years. Unlike human beings who will all die at some time, I am a concept. I will live as long as there are people who believe in me, and as long as there is an America, I will never be destroyed. For you see, the whole ideal on which the United States of America structures its government is me - Liberty.

I have given the American people much. America is now a land full of opportunities waiting to be seized.

Nothing other than liberty could have opened the door to these opportunities. I represent a challenge to all Americans that they capture their special opportunity so that it might help them and America to be greater yet. There are those who say, "We have gone far enough, and we are now good. Why go any further?" To those, I reply, "We have so much farther we can go." As such my philosophy can be most effectively expressed in the words of Robert Kennedy, who said, "Some men see things as they are and say why; I dream things that never were and say why not!"

I, too, am an American, and I can still do many more things. Is it just a coincidence that the word "American" ends in "I can"? I want all Americans to help spread the blessings of liberty to the world. I have the spirit of "I can," and by trusting God and through His help, "I will" help to make liberty a way of life for all people, not just Americans. That is precisely what the bicentennial is all about, and by so doing, America will be enriched and will become a closer, stronger, and even greater nation than it is today!

Representation without taxation

Sometime before the first shot was fired in the American Revolution, colonists were frequently seen demonstrating for "No taxation without representation."

If the opposite - "No representation with taxation" - were held true today, some Mississippians would be left without a voice in government.

It is not that the people have refused to pay taxes, as they did in those pre-Independence days. The problem has been that state and county governments have failed to implement the constitutional requirement of "uniform and equal" taxation.

The problem hits home quickly when two neighbors studying the county tax rolls learn that one of them pays only minimal taxes, while the other pays much higher taxes, even though their homes are of comparable value.

The problem in that particular case stems from the fact that one home was appraised two years before the second home was built and is taxed according to an out-of-date appraisal. The new home, though, is being taxed at an up-to-date rate.

And in Hinds County, Jackson residents have been paying higher property taxes because their homes have undergone reappraisal by the city, and the city has been furnishing its tax rolls to the county. The city residents pay higher county taxes because their homes' values have been adjusted upward, while county residents outside the city of Jackson have not had a reappraisal in years.

These incidents are not isolated. They may even be the rule rather than the exception.

The Mississippi Legislature will meet in Jackson in seven months. The members will have before them bills which will call for a statewide reappraisal of property. When passed, the bill will be the first major step toward equitable taxation.

But until that time, we will remain in the grips of unfair taxation which too often favors one man while overtaxing his neighbor.

Stennis announces public works

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Senator John C. Stennis this week announced that Senate Armed Services Committee and House conferees had reached agreement on the Public Works Appropriations and Military Procurement

Authorization bills. As chairman of both the Senate Armed Services Committee and the Public Works Appropriations Subcommittee, Stennis serves as chairman of the Senate Conferees on both

"I am extremely pleased with the results of these two conferences," Stennis said. "Without debating the merits or demerits of any particular item in either bill, this is a prime example of members of Congress seeking to gain better control of federal expenditures and adhere to a definite budgetary schedule," he continued.

As examples of the volume of work necessary to present the bills to the Senate, Stennis explained, "Countless hours were spent by Committee members and staff personnel in developing the necessary information. The Committee report on the Procurement Bill is in excess of 200 printed pages and the Public Works Report is over 100 pages.

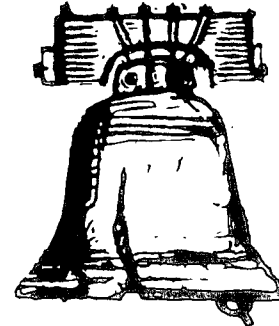

These reports are basically summaries of much more information and brief statements of Committee recommendations."

Committee hearings themselves cover many volumes and thousands of printed pages. Detailing the hearings record of the Public Works Appropriations Subcommittee, Stennis said, "We held 27 sessions of hearings and two open executive sessions. We received testimony from the Federal agencies funded by the bill, members of Congress, State and local officials and literally hundreds of citizens from all walks of life throughout the United States."

BICENTENNIAL

My little "black book" is getting pretty full of quotations. Things prominent people have said to me in all sincerity never dreaming I planned to use them in print!

Mayor Warren Carver: "I think religion should be stressed in our fourth of July celebration. Religious freedom was one of the issues dominating the foundation of our country. The Fourth of July falls on Sunday, I believe we should exercise our freedom of religion and our freedom of choice and go with thankful hearts to the church of our choice. I think we should meditate on the blessing of religious freedom."

John Rutherford, Clerk of the Hancock County Court: "I love this area. My roots are here. In fact, I am proudly part-choctaw Indian. The Board of Supervisors contributed toward the fireworks display planned for Waveland, and somehow I wish I could let everybody in Hancock County know they contributed to the display... it was their tax-dollars... along with dollars from a great many other sources. Everybody should know they are a part of the celebration. It's theirs. They paid for it."

John McKenna, chairman Hancock County Bay-Waveland Bicentennial Commission: "We've done a great deal toward making Bay St. Louis a cleaner town, a prettier town, and when you get right down to the grass roots - well, the garbage collectors, trash collectors, all the workers on our city pay roll should be recognized. Just let that trash and garbage pick up stop for a week and see where we'd be. Also, don't forget that planting is one thing - and seeing that grass gets cut and flowers watered continually is important. Our public plantings are thriving. We salute our city's clean-up, beautify crew."

John Longo, Mayor City of Waveland: Our twin cities are beautiful communities... full of wonderful people. I love being mayor. I can see progress. The people are going strong... they are cooperating. They have vision."

Fred Logan, Rotarian: "We're retired. We elected to be home-owners in Waveland because we think this community suits our needs. Like the climate. Love the beauty of the area - and, of course, like recreations offered. Can't imagine a year-round location that's more ideal."

Anita Lamb, president Hancock County Chamber of Commerce: "With all the enthusiasm shown by the Chamber members and its Board, I feel that the year is an exceptional one."

Leo Seal, President Hancock Banks: "Ribbon cutting at 8:45 a.m. on Monday, June 28, marks the opening of our 13th bank - and the second to serve the Bay area. We want to thank you for making this growth possible - we want to extend a personal warm welcome to all our patrons."

Norton Haas, president Hancock County Historic Association: "We're getting good attendance at our meetings. There's always a good program. We keep within the hour, and our accomplishments have been satisfactory. There's lots of history here."

Fred Wagner, architect for City County Public Library: "In designing the Library I had in mind several things: available money, a functional building, adaptability to needs of the community - and expansion that is sure to come. The City-County Library is a multi-purpose complex: of rooms to embrace those who read, listen to music, attend cultural meetings, research, etc."

Prevent Blindness Society urges caution with fireworks

NEW YORK—Efforts to improve control of dangerous fireworks by federal government action are at a virtual standstill, at least for the coming Fourth of July holidays, warns the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

"This is a matter of great concern to us," said Virginia S. Boyce, executive director of the Society. "All the data and information on fireworks casualties we have presented to federal agencies over the past years have been swept aside, and the injuries continue. Frequently, the victims are children, often the innocent bystander."

The Society's position is that all fireworks should be restricted to licensed public displays. "These exhibitions let us enjoy the fun and excitement, without the hazards," Mrs. Boyce emphasized.

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) proposed this year to outlaw the sale of all firecrackers larger than the 7-inch size—but allowing other equally hazardous common fireworks such as rockets, roman candles, mines, shells, and most sparklers—and not to be effective until 180 days after its order (October at the earliest). The Society's legal appeals for more immediate action to ban all firecrackers were turned down, and so another July 4th will pass without effective fireworks control.

Although 28 states have enacted model laws recommended by the Society, these laws are often undermined by fireworks purchased from illegal, under-the-counter sources, or from nearby states without such restrictions.

NSPB estimates that there were 2,600 fireworks casualties in the United States last year during the month of July alone, and more than 400 of these were injuries to the eye.

Some of the most common dangerous practices are taping firecrackers together and putting them in a can or bottle, or removing the explosive to make a "bigger bomb." But all pyrotechnics are inherently hazardous, even those that are well made. They are explosives and there is no truly safe way to use them, Mrs. Boyce pointed out.

"We urge parents especially to keep their unwary young away from fireworks and those who use them," she said. "Enjoy the holiday

Summer camping has own batch of hazards

The urge to camp out during the summer months can lead to injuries, even death, according to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission.

The commission warned that sleeping bags and tents can turn fun into tragedy if children and campers fail to be cautious, especially regarding fires.

During 1975, an estimated 2,736 persons were treated in hospital emergency rooms around the country in connection with accidents involving tents, sleeping bags, cots, hammocks and other similar camping-type materials. Many involve fires.

In one example, a 17-year-old boy on a camping trip rolled over onto hot coals while asleep in bedding gear. The bag caught fire and the youth was fatally burned.

There are voluntary industry standards on tent and sleeping bag flammability. In addition, the commission staff is working on the development of a safety standard to diminish the flammability hazards associated with tents.

The governing body of a county in New York requested such a standard in a petition to the commission in 1974.

Persons who use tents or supervise the use of tents by children should take care to consider that tents and sleeping bags burn.

The CPSC offers the following safety tips:

-Use flame-retardant tents and sleeping bags if possible, but assume tents and sleeping bags are flammable and be careful with fire.

-Place campfires and stoves away from tents or sleeping gear, keep fire downwind.

-Extinguish fires before going to sleep.

-Keep cooking, heating and lighting equipment in good repair and follow instructions in its use.

-Don't smoke cigarettes, pipes or cigars near sleeping bags.

-Avoid using carbon monoxide releasing charcoal and catalytic products in unventilated areas.

-Transport flammable liquids in safety containers, keep them capped, out of tents and away from children.

It has become increasingly clear that nuclear energy and coal are the only means of providing additional energy which will allow for economical growth and more jobs.

again depressed, this time into furniture of Waveland, he captured three relationship with him.

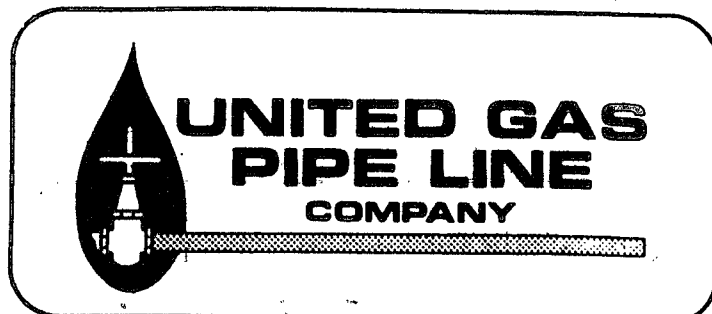

"These are the times that try men's souls: The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of his country; but he that stands it now, deserves the love and thanks of man and woman. Tyranny, like hell, is not easily conquered; yet we have this consolation with us, that the harder the conflict, the more glorious the triumph."

Thomas Paine
December 1776

This company believes that the words of those who founded this country have a strength and meaning that will never die. Too few men of the caliber of the Founding Fathers have graced this earth. We share with all Americans a deep gratitude for their legacy and an abiding respect for their courage and resourcefulness.

Today we face problems of a different character and different portent. Much has been said about the energy crisis. Much right and much wrong. The crucial question of our time is not where to place blame for the natural gas shortage, but how to deal with it. Fortunately, it is characteristic of constructive Americans that we argue and even quarrel among ourselves until finally, faced with the full understanding of the problem confronting us, we close ranks and devote our strengths and wisdom to its solution. We believe such a time is now.

There is a big job to be done.

Part mother, part confidante

Sherry Schwabacher assumes Harbor House role

Part mother, part chauffeur and part confidante, Sherry Schwabacher combines her energy and sense of humor to keep things running smoothly under the Harbor House roof.

Since her appointment May 25 as housemother at the group care home for teenage girls, Sherry, her husband Louis, and daughters Alicein, age seven, and Bahiyah, age three have worked to integrate their lives with those of the four girls currently in residence.

A transplanted Illinoisian, Sherry said she was somewhat apprehensive prior to moving day "but that faded quickly. My own children are more a handful than the girls."

Sherry is only 13 years older than the youngest teenager, and believes that her youth is probably an advantage. "Teenagers will really try to test you, and it helps that I'm on to them."

The new housemother thinks that two full time parents provide a "more normal arrangement" for the girls under her care. She said most of the girls come from families with two parents and are unable to be placed in foster homes due to their ages.

Though the Schwabachers have never had foster children in their home, they maintain their previous residence which has two live-in friends, a young woman and an elderly Vietnamese refugee.

Moving into Harbor House is more or less a homecoming for the family who once lived in the house next door.

When she's not taking the girls to their various activities, or preparing meals and snacks, Sherry spends most of her time seeing that her own daughters stay out of mischief. "Though I have four constant babysitters, the three-year-old is as active as five people, so I'm always on the lookout."

Benefits offered dropouts by new USM study courses

High school dropouts wishing to prepare for the High School Equivalency Examination (GED) may now take any of five basic preparatory courses in independent study at the University of Southern Mississippi.

The five courses cover English, natural science, literature, mathematics and social studies according to B. Glynn Rawson, director of independent study.

"Although each subject area is complete in itself, we feel there is much to be gained by taking the five courses," Rawson said.

Each participant may complete his work as rapidly as time and ability will permit in each subject, and work will be assessed promptly. One year is anticipated for completion of the five course and fees are $35 per course or $150 for the five courses.

Motorcycle gang members arrested after deputies find concealed weapons

Nine members of the Satan's Tramps motorcycle gang were arrested by Hancock County officers Tuesday and briefly confined on charges including possession of marijuana, carrying concealed weapons, and impersonating an officer. Deputy Ronnie Peterson said the arrests occurred at the rest area on I-10 after officers spotted the group seated in a circle and stopped for a routine check.

"We noticed that one of the men began to pat his pocket and we thought maybe he was trying to conceal or discard some drugs," Peterson said, but the "drugs" turned out to be a loaded .38 automatic revolver. Individual searches of the five men and four women yielded a .357 magnum revolver, several knives, a three foot machete, approximately one ounce of marijuana and a Plaquemine Parish deputy's badge.

Peterson said the group was reportedly on its way to Florida for the Fourth of July weekend. He said they were brought to the jail in a convoy consisting of two police vehicles and the gang's six motorcycles.

Charged with possession of marijuana were Mary W. Chriseol, Cathy H. Smith, Donnie R. Hall, Johnny G. Smith and Duke A. Sonnier, all of Monroe, La.; Debra A. Stinson, Central Square, N.Y.; Kim Franovich, Buras, La.;

Winfred Berry Jr., Alexandria, La.; and Mary Ann Reeves, Dallas, N.C. Johnny Smith, Berry, and Hall were charged with carrying concealed weapons and Franovich was charged with impersonating an officer.

The nine were released after four hours confinement on bond ranging from $200-$500. They face a preliminary hearing Tuesday before Beat Four Justice Joe Dobson.

WEAPONS CACHE—Assorted blades and two firearms were taken from nine members of the Satan's Tramps motorcycle gang arrested in Hancock County Tuesday night for carrying concealed weapons and a small amount of marijuana.

Natchez Trace Parkway funds appropriated

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Senator John C. Stennis announced this week Senate Appropriations Committee approval of $9,560,000 for further work on the Natchez Trace Parkway.

A total of $8,515,000 is recommended for Senate approval to construct sections in Mississippi and Alabama while $1,045,000 is recommended for preconstruction planning on sections in Mississippi. Stennis pointed out that the funds, when appropriated, will be used in accordance with priorities established by the National Park Service. Under these priorities, the full amount recommended by the Committee would fund construction on section 3-C northeast of Tupelo and section 2-D-1 adjacent to the Mississippi state line in Alabama.

Stennis said he was "particularly pleased that the Committee recommended funding that will enable planning work to proceed on three additional Mississippi sections of the Trace. It is essential that this planning be completed in order for actual construction to proceed when funds are available." The sections scheduled for planning work are 3X at Natchez, $100,000; 3-B in Prentiss County from Marietta to Macky's Creek, $465,000; 3-A-2 and 3-A-3 in Tishomingo County from Macky's Creek to the completed section adjoining the Mississippi State Line, $480,000.

As a ranking member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, Stennis actively sought additional funds for construction and planning for the Natchez Trace Parkway. "I have been extremely disappointed that this and previous administrations have consistently failed to request funds for completion of this beautiful and historic parkway. I have repeatedly taken up this problem with Administration officials and the appropriate committees in the Senate. Although I would much prefer and have pushed for a commitment to a five year program for final completion of the Natchez Trace, I am pleased that the Senate Appropriations Committee has recommended these funds which will keep this construction underway."

The House Appropriations Committee had earlier recommended $1 million for construction of section 3-C northeast of Tupelo and $100,000 in planning funds for section 3X in the Natchez area. Stennis pointed out that if the Senate approves the amounts recommended by the Committee, the different amounts in the separate bills will have to be resolved by a Senate-House conference committee. "I would hope that the higher figures recommended by the Senate would prevail in order to allow this long delayed project to continue to move forward," he said.

The Mississippi Senator commended Congressmen Jamie Whitten, David Bowen and Thad Cochran for "their very effective work in keeping this project moving forward in the House and thereby helping assure funding for this coming fiscal year."

USM plans workshop aimed at minorities

Women and other minorities have the rare opportunity to explore the means and advantages of obtaining backgrounds in the sciences in order to "break into" science careers in education and industry.

Designed to inform high school counselors, a stress will be put on this aspect, as well as others, during a July 5-9 workshop at the University of Southern Mississippi, according to Dr. Steve Doblin, workshop director.

County agent notes

Broadleaf weeds need treatment now

By JOHN W. SMITH
Many pastures now need treatment to control broadleaf weeds. If the weeds are more than 15 inches tall, they should be clipped closely and treated with herbicide during regrowth. Fast growing weeds are much easier to control than old tough plants. In many cases, 2,4-D will provide the needed control, especially on succulent annual weeds. Tough perennial weeds such as dogfennel and horsenettle are better controlled with 2,4-D plus dicamba. There are indications that close clipping two weeks after herbicide treatment will improve control.

CATTLE WORMS
Worms in cattle can be an expensive proposition for cattlemen. An average worm infestation can reduce weight gains by 10 to 20 percent. Some worm control methods include providing adequate pastures and a good balanced feeding program. Avoid overstocking pastures. Raise feed bunkers and water troughs off the ground to prevent contamination by manure.

Separate obviously wormy cattle from the rest of the herd and do not pasture calves where wormy cattle have been confined.

Have a veterinarian check your cattle for parasites at least once a year.

SOYBEANS
If you still have soybeans to plant, be sure to select a late maturing variety for top potential yields.

To avoid serious yield losses the latest maturing varieties should now be planted, including Bragg.

BRUCELLOSIS VACCINATION

If we are going to rid Mississippi of brucellosis (bang's disease), about 100 percent of all replacement heifer calves born in the state for the next five years or more must be vaccinated against the disease.

Dairy calves should be vaccinated between the ages of two to six months of age; beef calves from three to eight months.

The vaccination is free of cost to producers. State and federal funds finance the program designed to stamp out brucellosis.

The program can only be successful if every cattle owner vaccinates, so talk to your neighbors. Get them to vaccinate also.

HOG FEEDERS
If your hog feeder is poorly designed or poorly adjusted, it can cause a big jump in your feed bill quickly.

Research has shown that as much as two tons of feed a year can be wasted from a single 12-hole feeder that is not operating properly.

All that it takes to lose this much feed is for one pound of feed to be lost from each feeder hole each day.

You can reduce this waste by allowing plenty of feeder space - one feeder hole for every four pigs is adequate.

Use feeders with flow adjustments and as hogs get heavier, increase the flow. Check each feeder daily for evidence of waste, spoiled feed or damaged parts.

AVOID SUMMER SLUMP

When temperatures soar into the high 90's, dairymen often experience what is known as a summer slump in milk production.

Here are some ways you can help prevent this from happening to your dairy cows: Give them the very best temporary grazing. Grazing two hours early in the morning and late in the evening is ideal.

If you keep your cows on pasture all day, make sure that they have shade. If no shade is available, graze those pastures only at night.

Provide plenty of fresh water. Cows should have access to water at least four times a day. Don't make cows walk long distances to pasture in hot weather. Pasture the distance areas with help.

Feed some extra grain when pastures are low in quality and, if possible, provide some hay or green chops. This will also help maintain a high butterfat test.

MCES to sponsor 4-H workshop

The Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service will sponsor a 4-H District Teen Leader Workshop July 12 at the University of Southern Mississippi-Gulf Park in Long Beach.

The session begins at 10 a.m.

According to an MCES spokesman, the workshop will feature the latest information to meet the needs and interest of the people of Mississippi, and a wide range of subjects will be covered during the session.

For additional information, contact MCES or the local county office.

CHARLOTTE PIAZZA

Charlotte Piazza to vie for Fishing Rodeo queen

Miss Charlotte Piazza, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Piazza, will represent the City of Waveland at the annual Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo queen competition scheduled this weekend in Gulfport.

Miss Piazza, 21, is a 1972

graduate of Bay High School and a 1976 graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi with a degree in radio, television, and film.

A former contestant in the Waveland Miss Hospitality pageant, she plans to enter graduate school at USM this fall to study mass communication.

State facilities awarded grants

Congressman Trent Lott (R-Miss.) announced Friday the awarding of two grants to state educational facilities, the University of Southern Mississippi and the Mississippi Research and Development Center.

USM will receive a $22,398 grant part of the Public Services Administration's program to aid public non-profit institutions of higher learning.

Lott said the program is designed to train personnel in the field of child welfare.

A $1.29 million grant has been awarded the R&D Center from the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Purpose of the award, according to Lott, is to continue statewide comprehensive planning for city and local programs with emphasis on housing and land use problems.

CHECK OUT DESK—Patrons of the new city-county library see the check-in-out desk first when they enter the new $300,000 structure.

SECTION B BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS., THURSDAY, JULY 1, 1976 PAGE 1

GATHERED FOR DEDICATION—Members of the library board of trustees, guests and principal speaker Congressman Trent Lott gathered together Sunday to dedicate the county's new $300,000 library facility at Ulman Ave. and U.S. 90 in Bay St. Louis. Pictured are (l-r) trustee president Mrs. Frances McDonald, Rev. Nathan Barber, Judge Ruble Griffin, Lott, and Mrs. Linda Haas.

Library opens with compliments on debt-free condition

By JAKE JACOB

Congressman Trent Lott, principal speaker at the dedication ceremonies Sunday of the new $366,750 City-County Memorial Library, quoting from Mark Twain, told his audience of about 150 that, "A man who does not read good books has no advantage over a man who cannot read them."

Lott told those gathered that the cornerstones of the nation were the family unit, free enterprise, religion, and education.

"An active library is the mark of a growing community," said Lott. "It lets the people know the community and the county is moving forward," he said.

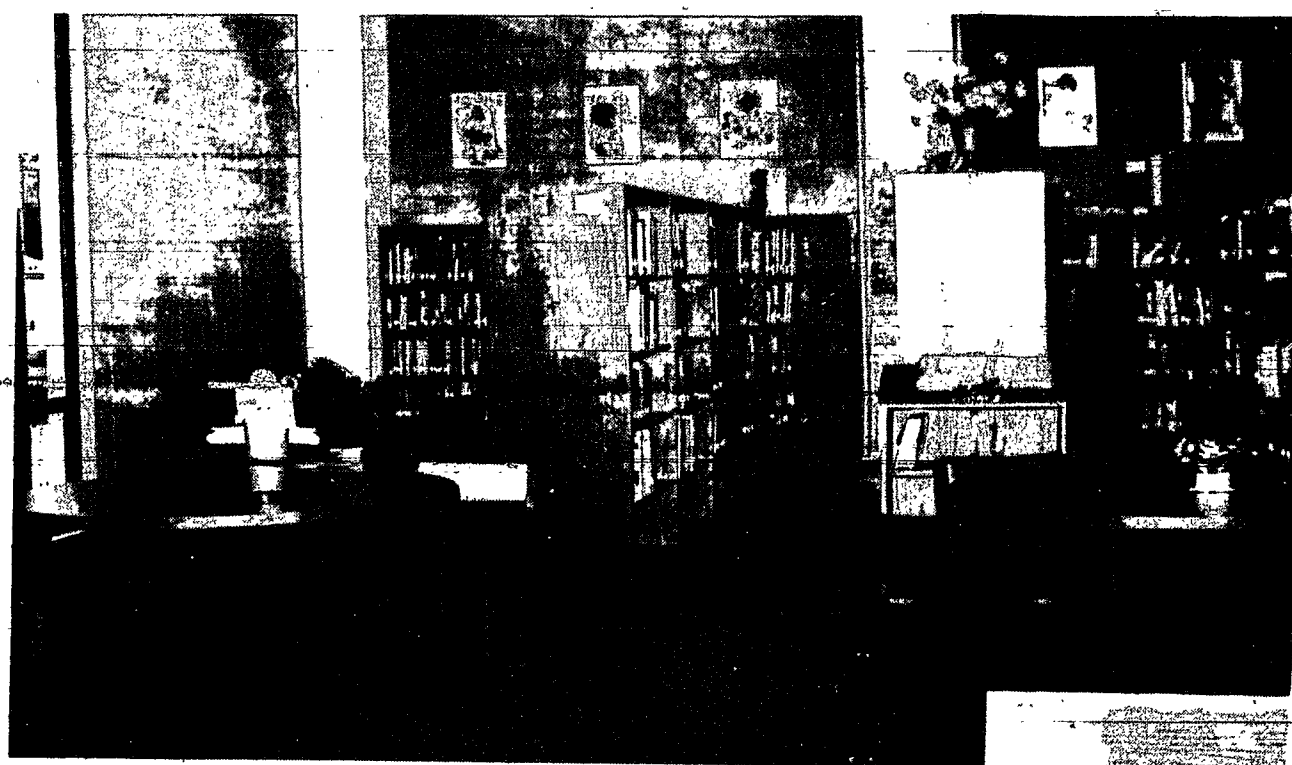

Lott was introduced by Circuit Judge Ruble Griffin, chairman of the dedication committee.

Griffin also introduced Miss Mary Love, director, Mississippi Library Commission, and Mrs. Frances McDonald, president of the library board of trustees.

Lott commended the trustees on their having a debt-free building, due to their efforts with federal, state, and local government officials.

"You have managed to get a facility that is debt free, and they certainly don't know how to do that in Washington," Lott quipped.

The congressman particularly praised the architectural qualities of the building saying, "Your architect, Fred Wagner, has done a special job here."

CHILDREN'S READING AREA is set off by tables and chairs just the right size for the smaller reader.

In his opening remarks, Griffin said that he and the library trustees had tried to "put over" the funding for a new library some 10 years ago.

"Maybe it is just as well we didn't succeed as now we have a building that is entirely debt free," he said.

Comprising 9800 square feet, the library was constructed with funds from Hancock County, the City of Bay St. Louis, the Board of Trustees of the City-County Public Library, the Library Services Construction Act through the Mississippi Library Commission, and from private donations.

Total land costs amounted to some $39,000, with a further $259,800 being paid to the general contractor, George P. Hopkins, Inc. of Gulfport. Architectural fees amounted to $18,186; equipment and furniture, $49,285; land survey and soil testing, $378; and blueprint review by the State Board of Health, $100.

Other than Mrs. McDonald, trustees introduced were Linda L. Haas, Louise C. Lynch, William A. Tate, III, and Frank L. Lee.

Members of the library staff presented were: Prima Wusnack, director, Hancock County Library System; Mildred Means, Waveland librarian; Grace Rhodes, children's librarian; Norma Fiech, bookmobile librarian; June Dearman, circulation librarian; Joy Wallace, technical services; and Kathleen Pierce, reference librarian.

Mrs. McDonald also acknowledged the invaluable assistance rendered the library by Mrs. Evelyn Griffith, and announced the dedication of two rooms in recognition of the work of two people who had done most to establish the library inside Hancock County.

"The meeting room has been named the Louise Crawford room in honor of the first librarian who worked in two, unheated, unfurnished rooms over the Hancock Bank and earned just $12 a month," Mrs. McDonald said.

"The rare book room has been named the Mrs. Adaline Samuel room, in honor of the past board president," she added.

Originally opening in 1934 with 200 donated books, the library has grown to the degree of it now housing approximately 37,000 volumes in the new facility.

Upon completion of the dedication the American Flag, donated by Post 139, American Legion, Bay St. Louis, was raised by Hancock County Chancery Clerk John Rutherford, and Lucien Kidd, commissioner, City of Bay St. Louis.

Bible school holds registration

First Baptist Church will hold preregistration for its annual vacation Bible School program on Friday, July 9 at 2 p.m. at the church. Dates for the bible school are July 12-16. Immediately following the preregistration, there will be a parade around the community to remind both children and parents about the coming event, according to pastor Nathan Barber.

Children from preschoolers (four-years-old) through eighth grade are invited to attend the bible school program. The program lasts from 8:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Monday has been designated as picture day and parents are encouraged to have their children present in order that they may be included in the group picture, Rev. Barber said.

Shubert-Rubio

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Shubert Sr. of Bay St. Louis announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Susan Darlene, to Keith John Rubio, son of Mrs. Florence Hinchey and Juan Rubio of New Orleans, La.

The wedding will take place Aug. 13 at 7 p.m. at St. Clare Catholic Church, Waveland, followed by a reception at the American Legion Hall, Bay St.

The bride-elect, a 1975 Bay High graduate, received her degree this year in basic data processing from Pearl River Junior College.

The prospective groom is a 1976 graduate of O. Perry Walker High School in New Orleans.

All friends and relatives are invited to attend through this medium.

SUSAN SHUBERT AND KEITH RUBIO

Flanagan-Hayes

Miss Linda Louise Hayes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas George Hayes Jr., Waveland, and Rodric Wayne Flanagan, Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodric C. Flanagan, Meridian, were married during an afternoon ceremony June 26 at St. Clare Catholic Church, Waveland.

Rev. Msgr. John Scanlon, pastor, performed the "double ring" ceremony before an altar decorated with baskets of red and white carnations flanked by candelabra palms.

Mrs. Janelle McLain, accompanied by Mrs. Pat Hill, organist, sang "Sunrise Sunset," "Ave Maria," "Whither Thou Goest," "The Lord's Prayer," "Panis Angelicus," and the "Wedding Song."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza over a cathedral length veil of illusion, edged with Alencon lace, was held by a lace headpiece adorned with pearls. She carried a Colonial bouquet of white silk roses centered with a red rose and interspersed with ivy, baby's breath and bridal wreath.

Mrs. John Schmidt, Slidell, La., cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Thomas G. Hayes III, Kenner, La., sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Charles Stewart, Hattiesburg, sister of the groom. Miss Rebecca Power, Waveland, was junior bridesmaid.

The attendants wore gowns of white organza embellished with red flowers and green leaves, white hats trimmed with red ribbon and carried a red silk rose accented with baby's breath and red ribbons.

Lee Cook, Pearl, was best man. Thomas G. Hayes III and Charles Stewart were groomsmen. Harold Heine, Bay St. Louis was junior groomsman. Frank Klein and Rene Nicaise, both of New Orleans, served as ushers.

Palms and baskets of red and white carnations decorated the Waveland American Legion Home for the reception.

Mrs. Hayes received guests wearing a Nile green chiffon dress, matching accessories and a white silk rose corsage. The mother of the groom chose a blue gown and matching accessories. A white silk rose corsage completed her ensemble.

The grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Angelina Klein, wore a hot pink chiffon dress and a pink rose corsage.

Miss Judy Yarbrough presided at the cake table and Mrs. J.R. Murphy was at the punch bowl. Mrs. Rene Nicaise kept the bride's register.

For traveling, the bride chose a beige pantsuit, red accessories and a white silk orchid corsage.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will reside in Pearl.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. A.E. Armbruster, Mr. and Mrs. E. Yancovich, Mr. and Mrs. E. Klein, Mr. and Mrs. M. Klein, Mr. and Mrs. F. Klein, Mrs. N. Loutalot, Sheri and Norman, W. Flores III, Mrs. W. Flores II, F. Peyronnin, Miss P. Peyronnin, Mr. and Mrs. S. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. H. Bollinger, Mr. and Mrs. A. Rodriguez, Mr. and Mrs. K. Klein, and Mrs. Angelina Klein, all of New Orleans; and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart, Hattiesburg.

MRS. DANNY LEE MARTIN

Martin-Cooper

Miss Betsy Jane Cooper and Danny Lee Martin were united in marriage during a morning ceremony June 26 at the Cragin Gilbert home in Poplarville.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ruby Boyce Cooper and the late Oliver Clyde Cooper of Clinton, S.C. and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D.J. Martin.

Rev. James O'Hara performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a formal gown of candlelight organza and cluny lace designed with an empire bodice, high neckline, bishop sleeves, and full skirt edged in lace. Her veil was a full length mantilla framed in matching cluny lace.

For her bouquet, the bride carried white daisies accented with baby's breath.

Miss Suzanna Bowden of Jackson was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Miss Lisa Ann Maginnis of Winder, Ga. and Miss Margie Elizabeth Valentine of Laurel.

The maid of honor wore a soft yellow gingham gown fashioned with a scoop neckline, short flared sleeves and slightly flared skirt. The bridesmaids were identically attired in early summer dresses with scoop necklines, short flared sleeves and flared skirts.

They carried long stem yellow roses.

D. J. Martin attended his son as best man. Groomsmen were Daryl Parker and James Kenneth Parker, both of Biloxi.

A reception immediately followed the ceremony.

For traveling, the bride wore a soft blue pants suit with a matching floral blouse.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Bowden of Jackson.

Alvin Ladner to attend

University of London

Alvin M. Ladner Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin M. Ladner Sr. of Clermont Harbor, has been selected to participate in the University of Southern Mississippi's six-week summer course in Comparative Criminal Justice to be taught in London, England.

The course is sponsored by the British Academy of Forensic Science and hosted by the University of London.

It will be taught by both British lecturers and USM's assistant professor of criminal justice, Dr. William B. Taylor.

Ladner will leave for London July 5.

Social work council

accredits USM school

The School of Social Work at the University of Southern Mississippi has been granted full accreditation by the Council on Social Work Education, according to Dean Lester Glick.

The council's action made USM's social work school the eighth such accredited unit in the nation, and the only accredited graduated school of social work in Mississippi.

Registering its first students only two years ago, the USM social work school graduated its first class of 41 students in May, and obtained its accreditation in the minimum time required.

A three-man investigative group, was sent by the council to investigate the validity of the school's "Accrediting and Self-Study Evaluation."

"In the site team's accreditation report, they lauded the quality of faculty and the relevance of the curriculum as outstanding characteristics of the school," Dean Glick said.

PVT. MERVIN COOK
FT. BENNING, GA.—Army Private Mervin Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cook, Pass Christian, Miss., recently completed seven weeks of advanced individual training at Ft. Benning, Ga.

He received general training as a light weapons infantry man and as an indirect fire crewman in addition to specialized weapons instruction.

He was also taught the proper use of high explosives and the placement, detection and disarming of mines.

Teamwork was emphasized while he learned to work as a member of a rifle squad or mortar squad. Each team member completed the training well qualified to perform other jobs in case of casualties.

The private entered the Army in February of this year and was last stationed at Ft. Jackson, S.C.

Easy reader

Morgan Freeman, left, and Rita Moreno are obsessed with the printed word and examine the writing on a dollar bill. Freeman is originally of Greenwood and will return there for a high school class reunion on July 4. Freeman and Moreno are stars on ETV's reading series, "The Electric Company," which can be seen on Mississippi ETV at 10 a.m., weekdays.

Electric Company star returns to state for high school reunion

Morgan "Easy Reader" Freeman of ETV's "The Electric Company" says he is not a star, but a "working actor."

Whatever the description, the class of '55 at Broad Street High School in Greenwood, Miss., will welcome him back at its class reunion during the July 4 weekend.

Freeman, who also plays several other roles in "The Electric Company," has been a member of the series' repertory company since its beginning in 1971 as an experimental program to teach basic reading skills to seven- to-10-year-olds.

"The Electric Company" is produced by the Children's Television Workshop in New York and is broadcast at 10 a.m., Monday through Friday, during the summer months on the Mississippi Educational Television Network, channel 19, Biloxi.

How does it feel for

Freeman to return to Greenwood? "It feels threatening to go back," he says. "If people look on you as a star, they look for the trappings. I don't have the trappings because I'm not a star. I'm a working actor."

Freeman became interested in acting early in life although he admits that he also wanted to be everything else from a truck driver to a jet pilot. But theater held his interest from the time he saw his first movie at about age seven and remembers that his teachers encouraged him to pursue this interest.

"I will never forget my English teacher, Mrs. Leola Gregory Williams, and Mr. and Mrs. Xerxes Walker," he said. "They had a great influence on me."

Freeman's first try at acting came when he played "Little Boy Blue" in a class play when he was eight years old. Later at Broad Street

High, he received an award for "Best Actor." That year the school also won the award in the local drama festival.

After graduation from high school in 1955, Freeman joined the Air Force. He served for four years then went to Los Angeles and attended the Los Angeles City College, where he studied theater arts, dance and French. He also joined the Negro Actors Guild and worked as a telegrapher. In 1961 he left Los Angeles for San Francisco, where he joined the Opera Ring, a musical repertory company. He performed with that group in "West Side Story," "Can Can" and "Threepenny Opera."

By 1963, Freeman was in New York, where he said "the excitement of being there intrigued me."

His New York theater debut came in 1967 in the off-Broadway production "Nigger Lovers," which starred Stacey Keach and Viveca Lindfors.

Hancock Bank officers thank customers for confidence

To support the continuing accumulation of evidence pointing to a pattern of steady economic growth in this area, Hancock Bank Monday opened its third branch in Hancock County. The new facility is located on U.S. 90 across from Coast Electric.

Leo W. Seal, president, emphasized the growth factor when speaking at the dedication. "Our depositors throughout the years have demonstrated their forward thinking and confidence by utilizing our facilities," Seal said. "It is reflecting the changing pattern of banking, in addition to providing a modern and expanded main section, we have made provision for five drive-in banking lanes, two of which are now in service." Seal said he hoped to be able to have all five in operation within a year.

Prior to hearing from Seal, the audience of about 100 people heard the bank's executive vice president, Donald Sutter, who served as emcee, introduce fellow directors including: Tom Milner; Ray Gordon, Jack

Watson, H.H. Jones, Dr. C.D. Taylor Jr., John McDonald, Robert R. Allen, and George E. Estes.

Sutter also introduced James Ginn, manager of the new facility, who with most of his staff transferred from the existing Hancock Bank on the Beach at Main St. Ginn, in turn, introduced his "people" as: Chari Necaise, Ezell Piernas, Virginia Larrong, Clare Mitchell, and Jeanette Monti.

The new branch manager said that people make up banks and invited the crowd to "come on in and do business!" Hancock Bank originally opened for business on October 9, 1899. Assets at that time showed as $10,000 in paid up capital, and $9,337.41 in deposits. Today the thriving financial institution has a paid up capital account of $3,016,000; deposits in excess of $194,275,000, and total assets exceeding $216,674,000.

With branches throughout Hancock, Harrison, and Pearl River Counties, those locally, in addition to the Beach, and U.S. 90, include the branch at NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories.

New equipment upgrades PRC

POPLARVILLE - Pearl River College's business education department received more than $18,000 in new equipment last week through the cooperation of the Vocational - Technical Department of the State Department of Education.

Students enrolled in the legal and medical secretaries program will be the primary users of the 18 typewriters and dictaphone transcribing units.

The two-year-old legal and medical secretary program is one of the fastest growing areas of the college's business education program. "There is a definite demand," Brenda Windham, instructor for the course said, adding "last year we could have placed nine graduates at any one time, just within our (PRC's) district."

Phyllis Daniels, accelerated business instructor, said she also had jobs waiting for all of her graduates. According to follow-up reports, students enrolled in the general clerical, business education and secretarial science courses also had an easy time finding employment after graduation.

HANCOCK BANK PRESIDENT Leo Seal addresses guests and dignitaries Monday during dedication of the bank's newest branch on U.S. 90 highway in Bay St. Louis.

Piano recital presented

Mrs. Kathleen Asher presented her eighth annual piano and organ recital June 28, for senior citizens at their center in the old Valena C. Jones school.

Students participating in the program entitled "America the Beautiful," were Joanna Spiers, Debra Asher, Laurie

Martinolich, Julie Martinolich, Kathy Martinolich, Mary Ann Depree, Mrs. Linda Henley, Tina Henley, Mary Moran, Virginia MacMillan, Sally Moran, Wayne Spiers, Terrence Asher Jr., Henry Moran, Hazel Spiers, Alicia Smith, Charlene Necaise, Marla Carter, Bertina Necaise, Mary Kay Bordages, Kristie Moore, Mrs. Jean Ramsey, Rebecca Ramsey, Mrs. Selma George and David Sproles.

The Waveland United Methodist Vacation Bible School choir, under the direction of Mrs. Asher, Ina Apwell, Sue Garner and Hattie Lee, sang "America the Beautiful" and a number of other selections.

Members of the choir are Debra Asher, Terrence Asher, April Corbett, Mary Cruden, Christine Brink, Shelley Bordages, Jackie Brink, Thomas Brink, Stephen Brink, Rebecca Griffin, Stephanie Garner, John Binegar, Lisa Binegar, Christine Newland, Barry Luxich, Sherry Luxich and Christy Luxich.

Following the program, Debra Asher, a nine year piano and organ student, was presented her diploma and a trophy. Joanna Spiers received a seven-year trophy and Mary Moran a five-year.

A reception followed.

Cake decorating show to be in Biloxi

The first annual Gulf Coast Cake Decorating Show will be held July 31 at the Edgewater Mall.

Demonstrations on the different methods of cake decorating will be held throughout the day, and a panel of three judges is scheduled to judge the show cakes.

Forms and rules for entering the show are available at the following locations: The Hobby Shop, Gulfport; Newman's Restaurant Supply, Biloxi; The Mushroom House, Pascagoula; and Home Extension Office, Pascagoula.

There will be two divisions, professional and non-professional and awards will be given in each division.

All entry forms must be in by July 17.

Jaycees to sell fireworks

The Waveland Jaycees are conducting their annual fireworks sale from the Jaycee Trailer on Coleman Avenue again this year.

All proceeds will go toward the Fourth Annual Childrens Fishing Rodeo to be held in August.

The Jaycees considered the rube to be an antidote to poison.

USM alumni names fund head

Michael D. Haas of Bay St. Louis has been appointed chairman of the Hancock County Chapter, University of Southern Mississippi Alumni Association's committee to raise a portion of some $200,000, needed to construct a new president's home at the university.

In the initial kick-off session this week, campaign organizers raised $32,019 towards the project.

The present structure is utilized by the association for its offices, according to J. R. Parish, drive publicity chairman.

MOST PARTICIPATION: Five countries have always been represented at the 21 Olympic trials. They are Australia, Greece, Great Britain, Switzerland and the U.S.A.

Waveland author receives publication award

Orrin H. Pilkey, 415 Piney Ridge Rd., Waveland, received word last week that "How to Live With an Island," a book he co-authored, has been given an award for excellence from the Society of Technical Communication in their 1976 competition.

Authors of the book, in addition to Pilkey, were his son, Dr. Orrin H. Pilkey Jr., a professor of marine geology at Duke University, and Robb Turner, former geology graduate student at Duke.

The book was published last fall and a second edition has just been released, with persons from the Netherlands,

Japan, South America, Canada and most of the 50 states receiving copies of the first printing.

Several universities are using the book as a text in connection with courses on environmental management and oceanographic geology. It is now in the Library of Congress and available locally at the Bay St. Louis and Waveland libraries.

"How to Live With an Island" combines scientific understanding of the fragile coastal environment with the practical demands and requirements of developers and homebuilders. According to Pilkey, it presents an account of the problems of seashore developments on Bogue Banks, an island in North Carolina. "Through dealing with one specific island, much of the information is apropos to other coastal regions," he said.

The physical processes of beach erosion, beach protection devices, and beach replenishment are discussed, in addition to some of the political, economic, and legal problems along with advice on the location and safe construction of shore houses. "One section," Pilkey said, "deals with how to prepare for and live through a hurricane."

The paperback book may be obtained from "Science and Technology," P.O. Box 12235, Research Triangle Park, N.C. 27709. Cost is $3 including postage.

Medal of Honor records donated to library

Two books, records of Medal of Honor recipients, have been presented to the Hancock County Library System by the Ladies Auxiliary No. 50, of the Disabled American Veterans. Dedicated in grateful appreciation of the brave men who served their country in time of need, the volumes are entitled: Medal of Honor Recipients, 1863-1973, and Vietnam Era Medal of Honor Recipients, 1964-1972.

Echoes

Mrs. John Dougher, Waveland, has just returned from a two week visit with her daughter, Chris, in St. Louis, Mo. Miss Dougher recently received her Master's Degree in social work from Washington University where she is currently teaching women's studies and pursuing a Ph. D. in social work.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cochran and children Ellen Marie and Steve, of Mobile, Ala., spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lang. Ellen Marie remained for a longer visit. Joining them Sunday for a family dinner were the Lang's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Michael

MR. AND MRS.
F. J. LANGENBACKER

Langenbacker-Demoruelle

The Church of the Nativity in Biloxi was the setting for the June 19 wedding of Miss Brenda Kay Demoruelle and Frank James Langenbacker III. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis W. Demoruelle of Biloxi and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F.J. Langenbacker Jr. of Waveland.

Father John Kelly performed the ceremony. Mrs. Nancy Decoux was organist and George Decoux, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a bouffant antebellum gown of Chantilly lace over English net and bridal taffeta. The basque bodice featured a Sabrina neckline enhanced with jeweled lace scallops. Tiers of Chantilly lace ruffles formed the bouffant skirt which extended into a Cathedral length train.

Her full length mantilla of illusion fell from a Juliet cap, and was edged in matching hand clipped Chantilly lace.

For her bouquet, she carried a cascade of mums, daisies, and baby's breath.

Her only jewelry was a silver locket, a gift from the groom.

Miss Debbie Mladnich of Biloxi attended as maid of honor. Don Hanna of Gulfport was best man and ushers were Jimmie Shoemaker of Biloxi and Joe Langenbacker, brother of the groom, of Waveland.

A reception for immediate family and close friends was held at the Keesler Officer's Open Mess in the Williamsburg Room.

The couple is at home in Pascagoula following a wedding trip to Destin, Fla.

Ladner-Haas

Miss Peggy Ann Haas of Kiln and Andrew L. Ladner of Bay St. Louis were united in marriage during a June 13 ceremony at Annunciation Catholic Church in Kiln.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Haas of Kiln and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ladner of Pass Christian.

Rev. James Devaney performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with arrangements of spring flowers. Music was provided by Mrs. John McKenna and vocalist was Miss Gina Haas, sister of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an Empire style gown of chiffon fashioned with a V-shaped neckline and butterfly sleeves. Venice lace embellished the bodice and defined the sleeves. Appliques of corresponding lace trimmed the A-line skirt that swept into a chapel length train.

Her full length veil of illusion was edged with matching lace and fell from a Camelot headpiece.

She carried a bouquet of sonia roses, white stephanotis, baby's breath and English ivy.

Miss Gina Haas, Kiln, attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Sheryl Breland, Bay St. Louis, and Mary Ann Haas, sister of the bride, Joan Haas, cousin of the bride, and Karen Bilbo all of Kiln.

The attendants were identically attired in floor length dresses of apricot polyester knit accented with full length shoulder capes. They carried long stem sonia roses and baby's breath.

Barry Vinot of New Orleans, La. was best man. Groomsmen were Louis Breaux and Steve Haas, brother of the bride, both of Kiln; Roy Hernandez, New Orleans; and Morgan Ladner, brother of the groom, of Pass Christian. Ushers were Stacey Ladner, brother of the groom, Pass Christian and Socrates Ladner, cousin of the bride, Waveland.

A reception was held at Jourdan River Shores Clubhouse. Miss Phyllis Breazeale presided over the guest register.

For receiving, the mother of the bride wore a long dress accented with flowers on a peach background and orchid corsage. Mrs. Ladner, mother of the groom, wore a dusty blue long jersey dress with an orchid corsage.

For traveling to Orlando, Fla. the bride wore a pants outfit of natural calcutta and striped gauze with natural accessories.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Prager, Bill Fournet, Susan Cardiff, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bache, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Pecoul and Mrs. J.J. Calandria all of New Orleans and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ladner, Mary Ester, Fla.

Military mention

Navy Airman Recruit Allan D. Gledhill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gledhill of Picayune has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego.

During the eight-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields.

Among the subjects he studied were seamanship, close-order drill, naval history and first aid.

A 1976 graduate of Picayune

ALLAN D. GLEDHILL

PLAYER OF THE WEEK—Dwayne Lafontaine has been chosen as Babe Ruth League Player of the week for the week ending June 19. A shortstop and pitcher for Coast Electric, Lafontaine batted .400 and picked up a win and a save in his team's two victories this week.

Coast Electric streak broken

Geroux's double propels Legion

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO—Kerry Geroux's eighth inning double scored David Strong from second to push American Legion past Coast Electric 9-8 Tuesday, snapping their four game winning streak. Coast Electric had earlier tied the score with five runs in the top of the seventh.

Geroux (5-2) picked up the win, yielding three hits and fanning four in going the distance. Alton Benoit ripped a triple and a single to lead Legion hitters.

Dwayne Lafontaine was tagged with the loss, striking out seven in losing his third game of the season. Lafontaine went two for four and Scott Cox doubled with the bases full to pace the Coast Electric attack.

In the opener, Rotary's Kerry Corr struck out eight in recording his third straight win, as he two-hit Chasez Construction 7-2. Rotary picked up four quick runs in the initial inning and then silenced the Chasez bats, allowing scratch runs in the first and third inning. Donald Ginn and Gene Tarzetti singled to aid the Rotary offense.

David Murtagh was the starter and lever, getting relief from Jonathan Lewis in the second. Huey Parsons and Ricky Hardie managed hits against Corr.

Rotary International and Coast Electric square off for the second half lead in a 6 p.m. opener, followed by Chasez Construction versus Dixie Realty.

St. Rose holds first place in men's league

St. Rose de Lima remained undefeated in men's softball this week to hold onto their first place standing with an 11-0 mark. The Bay Angels were three games back of St. Rose at week's end with an 8-3 mark.

In games last week the Sluggers blasted the Bay Angels 17-4 in a Friday night meeting. The Sluggers were paced at the plate by Thomas Hawkins, Robert Henry, Willie Thomas, Allen James and Oscar Thomas who were all two for three.

For the Bay Angels, Harry Farve, Floyd Lewis, and Alvin Smith were also two for three.

On Monday, the Railroad Station remained in the cellar after dropping their game with Ladner's 19-1.

Vic Green was four for four for Ladner's and Dave Richardson was three for four at the plate.

In the second game Monday night, St. Rose had to fight back to defeat first-year team Over the Hill gang 17-16.

Don Smith's homer in the bottom of the sixth sparked the comeback win. The Over the Hill gang had led all the way and almost came back to upset St. Rose in the top of the seventh but left the tying run stranded on second.

Robert Whavers and Ricky Weaver led the St. Rose bench while Ronald James collected three hits in four trips to the plate for Over The Hill.

Buccaneer Crew notes

By Diddy Quilan

Last weekend's activities began with the outdoor showing of an old time classic "The Eternal Tramp" starring everyone's favorite—Charlie Chaplin.

WNPS radio station from New Orleans sponsored a CB Radio Jamboree Saturday. The gala festivities included two country bands, live broadcasting from the park and drawings for six free CB sets.

For the youngsters, there was a swim race early in the day. The two divisions included heats and relays. In the 9-13-year-old category, Jimmy Watts of Picayune stole first place, while Mike Hardy of Canton took the honors in the under eight-year-old division. The relay team competition was won by Paul Lorenzi and Phil Bryant, both eleven and from Gretna.

Saturday night the adults had a chance to show their talents in the tennis tournament. Terry Phillips of Bay St. Louis captured first place, followed by Jarvis Lankford of Long Beach.

An outdoor worship service was conducted Sunday morning by Rev. Nathan Barber of the First Baptist Church in Bay St. Louis.

Don't forget that day use of our facilities is available to non-campers on Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. for a fee of $2.50 per family group.

Richardson wins Coast nips Chasez

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO—Three seventh inning errors by Chasez Construction gave Coast Electric the two runs they needed Sunday to spoil Mark Dahl's three hitter 7-6. Dahl held a one run lead going into the final frame. Mike Richardson (4-0) went the distance for Coast.

In the opener, American Legion exploded for 13 hits, four by Tony Raboteau, as they outlasted Dixie Realty 11-3 behind Steve Seymour, Kerry Geroux and Melvin Barnes each collected two hits apiece. Legion snapped out of a slump in which they managed only seven hits in dropping their last two games.

Andrew Haas was the starter and loser for Dixie Realty getting help from Gary Sotak in the fourth.

Bruce Morreale hit twice and Doug Summers singled as Dixie Realty lost for the fifth time in six tries.

23rd Watershed Congress meets in Biloxi

When the 23rd annual National Watershed Congress meets in Biloxi, Mississippi, June 27-30, leaders from 32 participating organizations will consider aspects of watershed management in relation to America's land use changes and water quality needs.

Luncheon speaker, Senator James O. Eastland, will discuss "The Future of America's Upstream Watershed Program." Senator Eastland is chairman of a Senate Subcommittee that approves plans for small watershed projects which already total over 1,000 in the United States, with 123 in Mississippi, all administered by the Soil Conservation Service, and sponsored by local water management and soil and water conservation districts.

Our Shopping Center rides streak remains undefeated in Little League

Our Shopping Center maintained its second half hold on the Little League top spot this week as they scored wins over both Gulf National Bank and Hancock Bank to remain undefeated, 5-0.

OSC handed Gulf National its third loss of the second half of the season 7-4 last Friday as winning pitcher Steve Favre held Gulf to five hits. Losing pitcher Neal Wilkerson held OSC to three hits but errors made the difference.

OSC almost suffered an upset Monday as Hancock Bank collected 10 hits for 12 runs but was denied again as OSC managed 13 runs on only five hits.

Leading batters for Hancock were Josh Hansel who was one for two and scored three runs, Dennis Rhodes was three for four and scored three runs, Ricky Ladner went four for four and scored one run and Brock Godwin was one for three and had one run. Steve Favre collected his fifth win and was also three for four at the plate with two doubles and a single.

American Legion held onto the league second spot as they won a Friday game with Riemann's 17-7. Winning pitcher was Scott Moore. Riemann's brought up their third spot, winning two games and dropping one this week. Riemann's defeated Gulf National 8-6 last Wednesday, lost to Legion 7-17 Friday, and beat Merchants Bank 6-5 this Monday. Shawn Henderson was winning pitcher for Riemann's against Gulf, losing pitcher against Legion. Ronald Carter was winning pitcher for Riemann's against Merchants.

Hancock Bank split games, winning against Merchants 18-6 last Wednesday and then dropping their cliffhanger with OSC 13-12.

Gulf National dropped games with Riemann's Wednesday 6-8 and against OSC Friday 4-7.

Merchants also dropped two games, losing to Hancock 6-18 last Wednesday and to Riemann's 5-6 on Monday.

Parks and playgrounds teams start minor league

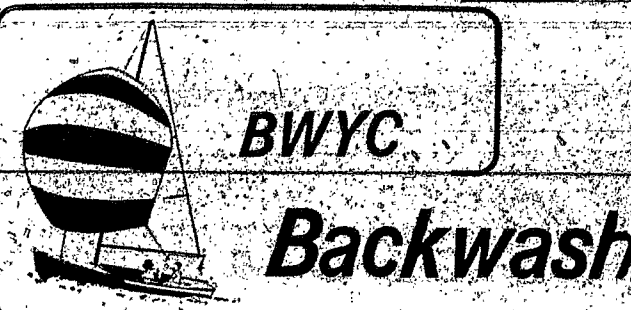

Last Thursday at McDonald Field Girls Minor League Softball and Boys Minor League Baseball kicked off their season games at 3:15 p.m.

In girls' softball the Blue Demons, coached by Jeffery

Reed met the Red Foxes, coached by Chuck Genin. After five innings of play the Red Foxes won the game 6-5. Leading scorer for the Red Foxes was Karen Perkins with two runs.

Boys' baseball started off with the Red Sox vs. the Blue Knights. After three innings of play the Red Sox won 12-6. Top scorer for the Red Sox was Wayne Crosby with three runs and for the Blue Knights it was Kevin Crosby with two runs.

Today the Maroon Mooners vs the Blue Demons play at 3:15 p.m. and the Blue Jays vs Red Sox at 4:30 p.m. Everyone is invited to come see these youngsters in action.

SEARS - Bay-Waveland's junior sailors won the Sears Western District Eliminations, the first step toward the United States Junior Sailing Championship. Skipper DENNIS STIEFFEL, with his crew AMY CHAPMAN and RANDY SANTA CRUZ, won the five race round robin series in Flying Scots over second place Kenneth Moran of Southern Yacht Club, and third place John Crammer of Pontchartrain Yacht Club. Scott Posey of host Club Pass Christian was fourth and Chris Wientjes of New Orleans Yacht Club was fifth.

Stieffel, Moran and Crammer have qualified for the Sears Quarter-Finals to be held at Southern Yacht Club July 10 and 11 in Flying Scots.

SMYTHE - ROD STIEFFEL made a clean sweep by winning all the races of the Smythe Western District Eliminations for the United States Junior Single-Handed Sailing Championship. The series was sailed in Sunfish at Pass Christian Yacht Club June 26 and 27. Leslie Weatherly Gulfport Yacht Club finished second, Shawn Killen of Southern Yacht Club third, Merrill Whitaker of New Orleans Yacht Club fourth, and Edith Yarbrough Pass Christian Yacht Club fifth. Stieffel, Weatherly and Killen will meet the winners of the Eastern District at the Quarter-Finals at SYC July 10 and 11.

FOURTH OF JULY - Lots of fun and activity have been planned by Basil and Weezie Kennedy for Bay-Waveland's biggest Fourth of July ever. There will be plenty of crazy races in both Scots and Sunfish, Fishing Rodeo for the kids under 12, lunch and drinks at the snack bar all day and a barbecue in the evening. This is a great day for the whole family to spend at BWYC.

BAY BOURBON - The Bay Bourbon Series for Bay-Waveland skipperette championship will be sailed July 3 and 5. The skippers meeting will be at 5 p.m. Friday.

JUNIOR DANCE - Saturday, July 3, at BWYC from 8 p.m. to midnight. Music by "KOLOUR."

The Ameri-Star...

... is a twelve point, three dimensional red, white and blue adaptation of the American flag. It uses the thirteen stripes and 50 stars of our flag in a patriotic star design.

The Ameri-Star is, in fact, a new dimension in our great flag.

The designer...

... is a mid-west graphic arts specialist, Jack Reyer, who in 1970 designed the Ameri-Star as an additional symbol for our country. He copyrighted his design in 1971.

What crutches?

Fishing rod and crutch handles in one hand, stern face, and big batch of determination, all sent into makeup of 15-year-old Billy Jordan, Tuesday, when scaling rocks on Legion Pier. Young Jordan is fractured leg did not deter him from catching a mess of specks. From Franklinton, La., the youth is visiting his grandfather, Lamar Breland, for the summer vacation.

ETV to broadcast state dinner

Guess who's coming to dinner.

For the first time in 20 years, Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip will pay a visit to the United States and will be honored at a White House state dinner.

Educational television will provide live coverage of the black-tie affair beginning at 7 p.m. Wednesday, July 7, on the Mississippi ETV Network, channel 19, Biloxi.

The coverage will continue through the dancing after dinner. Also featured in "A State Dinner for Queen Elizabeth II" will be special reports on the members of the royal family, the role of the monarchy in the last two hundred years and the protocol of the occasion.

Public television correspondent Robert MacNeil will anchor the broadcast and will be assisted by Jean Marsh and Julia Child. Miss

"Health is better than wealth." English proverb

Marsh, star of "Upstairs, Downstairs," will interview the guests and comment on the social aspects of the evening. Miss Child, author of numerous cookbooks and star of "The French Chef," will be in the White House kitchen with chef Henry Haller discussing the culinary side of the event.

Also included will be commentary by BBC correspondent Frank Gillard on the British perspective of the Bicentennial celebration.

Among special reports in the coverage are filmed excerpts examining various aspects of the life of the royal family and reports on the work of the White House calligrapher who engraved the invitations and the White House florist.

Remember if you want to be a good fisherman your tackle should be taken care of, as your car or any other piece of machinery. Check reels to see that they are working smoothly. Check lines to see that they are not frayed. Change leader if fly fishing. A knot in the leader causes it to break and a good fish can be lost. Check guides on the fly rod or casting rod. Damaged guides can cut a line. Clean out the tackle box so you can find a bait " pronto." These things save a lot of cussing. Check your outboard motor and see that it is working before going fishing. Cleaning spark plugs helps a lot. In other words, go fishing for pleasure not for aggravation.

On the fishing side, salt water fish are doing better. Some Spanish Mackerel were caught last week by those trolling along the two bridges. Now is the time for them to make their appearance, some specks and other salt water fish were also caught. Doing pretty good catching soft crabs. The tide is right for them.

John Scafide Jr., made a nice catch of them the other night. Saw plenty lights out front the past week. Go early and stay late is the sure way to get them. They are found best in shallow water, about four inches or less.

Tuby Nécasse said he caught some turtles by the castway route. They were nice size he said and did they go good with French bread. He claims it's the best eating fish. Probably so if you like mullets.

The 1976-77 Louisiana trapping season will open Dec. 1 and extend through Feb. 28, according to the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, which set the dates at its regular monthly public meeting in New Orleans Tuesday.

J. Burton Angelle, director, said that the value of pelts and animal meat taken during the 1975-76 trapping season amounted to $13,820,062, marking the industry's most profitable year since the banner season of 1945-46 when total value of the fur take reached $15,553,185.

He said that it was the fourth consecutive year the industry showed total harvest value of more than $10 million.

George Clements, Jr. is one of our young fishermen who fishes and crabs at Clermont. Last week he bought home some croakers and trout.

Met Raymond W. Gregg who operates the R & R Marine in Slidell, La. Ray does a little fishing but prefers boat racing. Fixing outboard motors is his specialty.

Dale Jordan and Erwin Savore work for Ray and both do fishing mostly in Lake Pontchartrain. Was telling me of the big specks and red fish they catch and where to catch them.

M.G. Margiotta and his wife Naomi have a home at Clermont Harbor where they do fishing and crabbing. Mrs. Margiotta is a trained nurse in New Orleans and spends the weekends at Clermont Harbor with the grandchildren.

Luke and Sue of Baton Rouge, their son Chip, his wife Evelyn and children plan to spend the weekend of July 10-11 with me. We will probably go fishing, floundering and soft crabbing. Come on down, folks!

Victor Green Jr. was telling us of the flounders he catches while dragging on the bottom at Clermont Harbor off the seawall. They can also be caught while fishing on the bottom, using dead shrimp, he said.

Bert and Helen Padgett live at Waveland. Bert is superintendent for International Demolition of Salvage Ships off Horn Island. Helen does the fishing for the family. His company operates out of Pearllington.

John (Nall'em) Ploue said he is too busy working in New Orleans to go fishing as much as he would like to. Don't worry, there will be fish when you get a chance to go. You know the Gulf Coast.

ANNOUNCEMENT COLUMN.
FOR CONGRESS.
The Echo is authorized to announce ELLIOT HENDERSON, a candidate for Congress from the Sixth Congressional District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Cleveland and Stevenson go well together.
Gen. Chalmers is opposed to Harrison.

John W. Foster succeeds Mr.
Blaine.

The W. O. T. U. are among the foremost workers for a Mississippi exhibit at the World's Fair.

Jerry Simpson has been renominated for Congress by acclamation.

Indiana has appointed a negro woman as a member of one of the World's Fair Commissioners.

It was Cleveland's nomination that made Chauncey Depew conclude that he did not wish to become Secretary of State.

The twenty-first annual camp meeting on Seashore Campground will commence on Friday, July 8th, and continue for ten days.

The average small boy is now
"saying" to buy fireworks, while his parents are preparing the luf and arnica certain to be needed.

It is nothing but Cleveland and hot weather nowadays, but it isn't half as hot as the Democrats will make it for Harrison's followers next November.

its intention to appear at 11 o'clock in the day to avoid the heavy additional expense of all night work.

The Echo's esteemed metropolitan contemporary, the Daily City Item, has reached its 16th year of existence. It is a good paper and truly deserves the wide patronage it enjoys.

An exchange of ours says you may stand on the street-corner and discuss politics and talk about financial reform till you grow hoarse, but if you don't register before the 7th day of July you cannot vote next Nov.

At a meeting held this week in Biloxi Iverville Lodge No. 54, Knight of Pythias, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Ernest Desport, chancellor commander; W. K. M. Ducate, vice chancellor; Harry Arnold, prelate;
Wm. Kent, master-at-arms.

In his closing sermon at Nashville,
Sam Jones said: "If old Tammany were to go to hell in a body knock at the door, the devil would only let them in one at the time. If he were to let them in all at the time, they would knock him in the head, elect their own devil and run things to suit themselves."

Judge Calvin deWolf, one of the most influential citizens of Chicago and who owns a beautiful villa here, in a private letter to the editor says of the nominations: "I hope you are pleased with the Democratic nominations. We Republicans are satisfied we can beat them, but if Cleveland is elected, we can endure the affliction if you can. If, however, Harrison shall be re-elected, the benefits will be yours as well as ours."

ELLIOT HENDERSON FOR CONGRESS

It is an announcement column to say nothing else at this time. Elliot Henderson, of Pass Christian as a candidate for Congress from the Sixth Congressional District. Mr.
Henderson is the most promising candidate, but it is not his office asking him to become a candidate.
The result of his friends and the press' requests of him becoming a candidate. Mr. Henderson has held public office and served his people at different times, his last public position figuring him so prominently in the late Mississippi Constitutional Convention. As to his ability the fact is undisputed, his popularity is unapproachable and his party principles are modeled after those of Jefferson's or Gen. George's Democracy.
As will be seen in his announcement, his candidacy is subject to the action of the Democratic party, whose nominating convention commences in Biloxi, August 17th. We feel safe in saying the convention will favor him.

THE SOUTH.

The progress of the South since Appomattox has no parallel outside of romance.

In 1865 we had no money, no credit, no hope. Many of our cities were in ashes, our plantations were wrecked, and our railways were worn out.

To-day we have a land of peace and plenty, 49,000 miles of railway, and our average percentage of increase per capita of wealth for the decade ending in 1890 was a hundred per cent more than that of New England or the central west.

We are drawing capital and we are making capital.

Ten years ago we had 220 national banks; now we have 590.

The percentage of the increase of our foreign exports is about five times the combined gain at other parts of the country.

A few days ago it was shown by reliable statistics that we have fewer failures, with smaller liabilities in the South than in other sections. We show that in development and production our progress has been phenomenal, and that the growth of our diversified manufactures make a total during the past five years of over 17,000 new industries.

Now, take this fact—since 1888
our assessed property has increased $1,600,000,000 in value, according to the reports for 1890.

When a section can accomplish so much in twenty-seven years—starting with only battlefields and ruins for assets—the outlook ought to be bright.

It is bright, and growing. After the fight on the right line we can ash the Republican party this year, and, even if we fail, it will take a bigger man than Benjamin Harrison to block our onward march. Look at it as you will, the rising South is now in a position to hold her own, and seize her share of fortune's gifts.

Gov. Boies sent the following telegram to Grover Cleveland: "Accept heartily congratulations of all Iowa Democrats and be assured none will be more devoted to you than myself and those I am proud to number among my friends in this State." Why didn't Governor Hill show the same spirit of friendliness and prove himself of his shouting "I am a Democrat" by pledging his support to Democracy's choice.

A Texas steer—not the play of that name, but a real animal—created almost a panic—one of the crowded streets of Brooklyn, the other day by dashing wildly among the pedestrians. After dangerously wounding three people the steer was killed.

The world's record in bicycle riding was broken last week in San Francisco, by Frank Waller, who rode 863 miles in twenty-four hours.
He rode the first ten miles in less than 31 minutes, and over 19 miles in the first half hour.

It has been discovered that once before Harrison was nominated on a Friday. It was in 1876 and he made the canvass for Governor for Indiana and was well beaten. Friday is an unlucky day.

And now for the campaign.
Meridian is to have her annual fair this fall.

Crystal Springs, Miss., shipped 14 cars of tomatoes on the 15th.

Now is the time to organize Cleveland clubs throughout the Union.

Rev. Dr. Talmage has gone to Europe to be absent for the summer.

Cleveland and Stevenson is not unpopular to any marked extent, but oh my! it's strong.

Cleveland and Stevenson, 19, a lucky number; Harrison and Reid, 18, an unlucky number.

The Vicksburg Post suggests this name for the Third Party, viz: "Republican Aid Association."

Delta Advance: It looks like Cleveland; it feels like Cleveland; it smells like Cleveland—and it's a if it ain't Cleveland.

Henry M. Stanley may find himself getting elected to the British Parliament, a more difficult feat than the exploration of darkest Africa.

New York Tribune: For sale at a bargain, or will exchange for a cave wherein one can shrink from the public gaze, a nice little Presidential boom. Inquire of D. B. H., Washington, D. C.

Ex-Czar Reed has not yet found time to call upon Mr. Harrison to tender his congratulations, although he resides, during the sessions of Congress, within a stone's throw of the White House.

A nephew of Bismark is a working member of the New York City branch of the Salvation army. He was compelled to leave Germany, having killed his adversary in a duel.

A minister dining with an editor and observing the scant table, asked the blessing as follows: "Lord make us thankful for what we are about to receive and strengthen us to journey homeward."

Mr. Harrison will get up another foreign quarrel before the Presidential election, in the hope that it will save him from the defeat now staring him in the face. Mark this prediction.

The knowledge that Adlai Stevenson removed nearly fifty thousand Republican Republican postmasters while he held the office of First Assistant Postmaster General is what makes every good Democrat feel like taking off his coat and help to elect him Vice President.

China is going to boycott American products because of the recently enacted prohibitory law. This will have no effect upon this year's Fourth of July celebration, as the supply of fire crackers is already on hand.

Two-colored delegates from Florida to Minneapolis, on their way home, not having tickets or money, were put off the train by the brakeman.
That attacked him so viciously that they were arrested, charged with a murderous assault. They were sentenced to two years imprisonment and were taken to Michigan City. They gave their names as John Rogers and John Craig.

The crowned heads of Europe will attend the Bay St. Louis and Waveland celebration of the Fourth, according to the N. O. Item. "Caught on the fly: Mr. P. H.—No, you are mistaken in thinking Mayor Ulman, of Waveland failed to invite all the crowned heads and ruling powers of Europe to the Fourth of July regatta."
Of course he did not include them in general proclamation, but sent them special cablegrams. I hear that he is already getting favorable responses, and has hopes that Emperor William and President Carnot will, for this particular occasion, bury the hatchet and come over together.
